NORTH BRUNSWICK, N.J. (UPI)—A bus filled with Trenton State College students collided in a fiery explosion with a tank truck early today and state police counted "definitely 10 and possibly 11 dead."

State troopers said bodies were burned beyond recognition.

B.C. Benefits

Debt Cost Nil

First tangible evidence of the benefits to come from Premier Bennett's claim to retirement of the provincial debt came yesterday when for the first time in the history of B.C. the quarterly release of funds for government spending showed no provision for the public debt.

For the first quarter of this year $8,900,000 was allowed under public debt for sinking funds and redemption of debt. In the second quarter some $2,500,000 was allowed for retirement of the debt.

EVERY CENT USED

Yesterday the provincial cabinet voted $99,675,630 for government spending up until Dec. 31, 1959, and every cent of it will be used for government operation. The headings "public debt" and "debt redemption from revenue surplus" are marked "nil."

Largest single expenditure is for capital expenditures out of income amounting to $26,151,000 and including $14,000,000 for Trans Canada Highway work and $10,000,000 for roads, bridges and ferries.

COURTHOUSE

There is $800,000 shown for construction of public buildings, but the release does not show whether this is largely for Victoria courthouse construction.

The education department will get $19,049,175 and $12,414,500 of this is for grants towards education. Victoria College will get a general grant of $40,725 and its college of education $35,450.

New Plan May Soften High Cost of Drugs

By JIM TAYLOR

A pre-payment plan to combat the high cost of prescriptions may eventually be put in operation by British Columbia druggists.

Although the idea is only at the consideration point at the moment, officials of the council to the B.C. Pharmaceutical Association say the plan will certainly come under intensive study at their meeting Oct. 25-27 in Vancouver.

If patterned after a similar operation now being pioneered in Windsor, Ont., the scheme

France Hails Tory Victory

PARIS (UPI)—First editorial comment from the continent today said Prime Minister Macmillan's Conservative party victory would aid Western unity.

"Doubtless the fact that Macmillan stays in power will reassure her Western allies at the moment when the East-West dialogue has just barely started," the newspaper Aurore commented.

One-Third Prescriptions Now Unfilled in B.C.

would allow members of unions and other groups to be insured against high prescription costs by paying a monthly premium, plus a 35-cent service charge for each prescription filled.

Rates in Ontario are: $4.45 a month or $53.45 a year for a couple with one child; $5.10 a month or $61.20 a year for a couple with two children, and a maximum of $5.75 a month or $69 a year for a family with three or more children.

Officials in Victoria and Vancouver have a marked difference of opinion when it comes to figures regarding the current prescription situation, but this much seems apparent:

Up to 30 per cent of prescriptions now being written are not being filled, simply because the people to whom they are given can't afford to pay for them. The association says prescriptions in B.C. average $3, but the number of prescriptions in the $5 to $15 bracket is increasing steadily. The increase in prescription rates is blamed on a recent increase in cost of drugs, growing use of expensive, newly-developed drugs, and an increase from 50 cents to 75 cents in the fee pharmacists charge for dispensing prescriptions.

This dispensing fee, along with the "suggested price" list formula, is a bone of contention. One Victoria official, who refused to be quoted, said that the dispensing fee and the suggested price list are not fixed, and are used only as a guide. Furthermore, he claimed, many pharmacists ignore them.

The suggested price list, which is not issued by the association, works like this:

Druggists, as a rule, double the price they have paid for a prescription, then add the dispensing fee to arrive at the retail price. This applies to drugs which cost the druggist $3.60 or less.

Under this formula, a prescription which costs the druggist $3.60 sells for $7.95. On items costing more than $3.60, the formula is two-thirds more than he paid (this being the manufacturer's list price) plus the 75-cent dispensing fee.

For example, on a prescription in which materials cost the druggist $5 he would charge $5 plus two-thirds of his investment ($3.34), plus the 75-cent dispensing fee, or a total of $9.09.

These figures, according to the Victoria source, can't be taken as completely accurate. But they provide a fair indication of why a pre-payment plan could be beneficial, and why it will receive such close scrutiny.

"The pre-payment plan," the Victoria official stated, "is of course well worth watching. But even in Ontario it's now going through a test period. It will be looked into carefully."

Children Dreaded Needles

QUESNEL, B.C. (CP)—"I'm just praying to God that it won't strike again," said Mrs. Earl Dewitt of Quesnel after her husband became the fifth member of her family to be stricken with polio.

A daughter, Aida, 13, died Sunday from the disease. A son, Bruce, 4, now is fully recovered. Mr. Dewitt and two of his five children, Florence, 11, and Roy, 9, now are in hospital.

The distraught mother tried to explain:

"The children just dreaded getting needles so we kept putting the polio shots off."

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada now has almost seven times as many cases of paralytic polio as it had at this time last year.

Suspended

TV quiz winner Charles Van Doren yesterday was suspended from his $50,000-a-year position by the National Broadcasting Company shortly after he was asked to appear before a Senate house committee investigating charges that "21" and other TV quiz shows were rigged. (See story Page 7).

Defending Mother

Boy Freed In Killing

A 17-year-old Victoria high-school boy who killed a man to protect his widowed mother was set free yesterday by an assize court jury.

Ronald Webber, who had stood trial on a charge of murdering fireman James Lusse, 55, last May 23, impassively heard the not guilty verdict at 1.15 p.m., just half an hour after the jury went out.

After Mr. Justice Harry J. Sullivan told him, "You are now free to go," he left the courtroom with his mother, Mrs. Alice Olive Webber.

The Webbers hurried from the courthouse, refusing to comment on the outcome of the three-day trial.

They are now staying with friends in the city.

In his charge to the jury, Mr. Justice Sullivan said: "If I were trying this case alone without a jury, I would feel that the Crown has failed to prove an unlawful act on the part of the accused."

He said the jury had three choices: It could find Webber guilty of murder, guilty of manslaughter or not guilty.

Defence counsel Gerald Lauder, in summing up his case, said Webber was "well justified by all standards of English law" in shooting a man to defend his mother.

Lusse, who lived with the Webbers at 1417 Camosun, was slain there by a single shot through the heart from a .22-calibre rifle as he broke into a bedroom where mother and son had taken refuge.

"Lusse beat down the door of the bedroom by sheer physical force and Ronald was in a panic," said Mr. Lauder.

"He fired his rifle to protect her."

Defence counsel noted that Webber believed Lusse to be in possession of a revolver.

"He had every reason to fear that Lusse would kill his mother."

Mr. Lauder stressed that Lusse was intoxicated and that alcohol is a "stimulant to violence in a man who is angry."

The lawyer asked the jury to accept three grounds of defence:

1. That Webber was defending himself.

2. That Webber was in peaceful occupation of his home, and under English law a man's home is his castle, and the youth had every right to defend his castle.

3. That by all standards of English law, Webber had the right to defend his mother.

Labor Districts Go With Tory Tide

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Macmillan's Conservatives rode roughshod over the Labor party in Thursday's general election, winning a resounding mandate for a third straight term in office.

Final returns are expected to show the Conservatives with almost double the majority of 54 they held in the House of Commons at last month's dissolution.

WELL ON WAY

When counting was suspended early this morning they were well on the way to this total, and the ridings reporting later in the day were expected—as is their tradition—to bolster the Conservative showing.

Counting was suspended until later in the morning just before 4 a.m. (9 p.m. PST), with 387 of the 630 seats accounted for. By that time the Conservatives had gained more than 20 seats from Labor.

FEAT UNEQUALLED

The Conservatives' third successive victory at the polls marked a feat unequalled by any British political party since the early years of the century.

Macmillan, the publisher-politician leading his party for the first time in an election, told jubilant followers at a victory celebration that he hoped the coming period would "bring happiness to our country and make some progress toward peace in the world."

SENSE SHOWN

The election had shown "the great common sense of the British people."

Politicians immediately predicted a shakeup in the top leadership of the Socialist party.

The assured Conservative success climaxed a remarkable political comeback for the government, whose popularity was at a low ebb 15 months ago. Most of the credit was given to the prime minister himself, for his initiative in the cold war and his record of prosperity at home.

LABOR GLOOMY

Labor party headquarters was wrapped in gloom at 57 minutes after midnight when word came from Leeds that Party Leader Hugh Gaitskill had conceded. Only a short time after he had won his own seat—though by a reduced majority—the socialist standard-bearer announced:

"In view of the results which have now come in, we feel bound to concede the result of the election. It is obvious that there will be a Conservative government."

PEOPLES WILL

"It is the will of the people, and we accept it."

Cheers greeted the prime minister as he turned up at Conservative headquarters shortly afterwards. With characteristic understatement Macmillan had this comment on the result: "It has gone off rather well."

More exuberant was party chairman Lord Hailsham, who shouted: "This is the moment of truth."

OUT OF DATE

Frank Byers, chairman of the Liberal party, which increased its popular vote, replaced Labor as the second party in more than a few contests and actually gained a seat from the Conservatives, said the outcome proved that "socialism is out of date."

"The young people are coming over to us," he added.

TORY PREDICTION

As the night's counting drew to a close the Conservatives were predicting a majority of more than 100 in the new House, and Labor officials were reluctantly inclined to agree with this prediction.

Virtually all of the seats that report on the day following the voting are from country districts and small towns—including Macmillan's own riding—that could be expected to bolster the Conservative total.

The record post-war majority was 186, won by Labor in the 1945 election.

LONDON—The landslide proportions of the Conservative victory spelled disaster for the Labor party beyond its worst fears. It has suffered defeat in the 1951, 1955 and 1959 general elections and each time by a heavier margin.

The authoritative British Broadcasting Corporation said the defeat might mean Labor's extinction.

Victory Summit Mandate

LONDON (UPI)—The smashing Conservative election victory gave Prime Minister Harold Macmillan a powerful mandate for an early summit meeting—the priority target of his foreign policy.

His aides predicted that the prime minister now would press ahead at once for an allied meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev this year, as a starter for broader East-West peace talks.

Macmillan also wants to meet with President Eisenhower and other allied leaders soon, as a preliminary to the summit.

BULLETINS

EDMONTON—A blizzard raged Thursday night in all Alberta except the extreme southern areas and the Edmonton weather office forecast the storm will spread rapidly during the night into western Saskatchewan.

ISTANBUL, Turkey—A number of U.S. air force transports carrying American troops have landed in southern Turkey following the attempt on the life of Abdul Karim Kassem, the Iraqi premier.

VANCOUVER—Dr. N. A. M. MacKenzie, president of the University of British Columbia, Thursday night called for the establishment of a board of commission to oversee government grants to higher education.

Holiday Toll Predicted 35

OTTAWA (CP)—Thirty-five traffic fatalities for the Thanksgiving weekend were predicted Thursday by the Canadian Highway Safety Council starting at 6 p.m. Friday and ending at midnight Monday.

Londoners Yell, Dance In Piccadilly

LONDON (AP)—Britons by the many thousands swarmed through the night in the heart of London to cheer, stare, weep and dance over the general election.

By midnight it was an unconservative celebration of what seemed a sure Conservative landslide.

Traffic came to a complete halt around Piccadilly Circus. It moved only a few feet in five minutes near Trafalgar Square.

CARS PACKED
Parked cars filled the Mall for more than a quarter of a mile toward Buckingham Palace.

Results—minute by minute—were flashed against Great screens at Trafalgar Square and Piccadilly Circus.

It was a gay festive crowd. Long before midnight a shapely blonde fell into the fountain at Trafalgar Square. She was dragged out—to cheers.

ALL CHEATS
TV interviewers stuck a microphone before a grey-haired woman and asked her how she voted.

"I wouldn't give a finger for either party," she snorted. "No matter what government gets in, they're a lot of cheats." At that a terrific roar went up.

Predictions had been that the public would stay home and watch results on their TV sets.

Hotels and clubs were packed in London.

More than 60 persons paid admission to one Turkish bath near the heart of London.

"They plan to come in and sleep," said an attendant. "It's impossible to get a hotel room."

Beverley Baxter Among Elected

LONDON (CP)—A veteran Canadian-born Conservative campaigner was re-elected in Thursday's general election.

Five other members of Parliament announced in the early returns have Canadian connections.

Sir Beverley Baxter, 68, retained the Southgate riding. A former piano salesman who was born in Toronto, he is widely known as a commentator on British politics. He rolled up an impressive margin of 16,736 votes over a Liberal opponent.

The other five MPs are: Lady Tweedsmuir, daughter-in-law of the former governor-general, who increased her majority under the Conservative banner at Aberdeen South.

Capt. R. A. Pilkington, another Conservative with a bigger margin of victory, who at one time farmed in Canada.

Ian Percival, son of a Canadian who was formerly assistant to the agent-general for Ontario in London, retained Southport for the government.

Eric Johnson, a cattle rancher in the Cariboo country of interior British Columbia during the 1920s, was re-elected as Conservative member for Manchester-Blackley.

Resounding Victory

on the basis of returns through the evening from the larger centres providing the mainstay of their strength, officials knew their cause was lost.

Lancashire has been affected by Conservative plans for reorganizing the cotton industry. Scotland has been sharply affected by unemployment.

NOTABLE VICTORY
Macmillan's victory, which exceeded most of the expectations of preliminary public opinion polls, was notable in two respects. Not since 1910 has any party in Britain captured three straight general elections. And not in more than 90 years has a party been returned to power with an increased majority.

It was still too early to predict the total popular vote, but all indications were that it would set a record. Most of the winning candidates increased their majorities from those recorded in the 1955 election, when 76.8 per cent of the eligible electorate of 26,759,000 cast their ballots. This time the eligible voters numbered 35,400,000.

MARGIN INCREASED
On the basis of most of the night's returns the Conservatives had increased their margin over Labour in the popular vote by more than two per cent compared with the results in the last election. But the biggest popular vote again this time went to the Liberals, who were up more than three per cent, taking some of the support from both major parties.

In 1955 the final Conservative majority was only 900,000 votes, although their seat margin was much wider.

CONFIDENCE VOTE
This time the electorate apparently gave the prime minister a vote of confidence on his plea that he could best represent Britain at a summit conference.

Macmillan has been the leading proponent of summit sessions among leaders of the Big Four, and he eventually convinced the voters that his visit to Moscow last winter was a major factor in bringing a thaw to the cold war.

PERFECT WEATHER
An early morning fog cleared in time to provide almost perfect weather conditions during most of the 14 hours the polls were open. The electorate voted after one of the warmest, most prosperous summers Britain has known in 200 years.

All through a warm October night cheering thousands damned the centre of London to welcome the Conservative victory. New cars, television sets and refrigerators had signalled a truce—if not an end—to Britain's old class struggle, chief weapon in Labour's arsenal.

HUGE THROGS
As Big Ben boomed out the early-morning hours, the huge throngs paraded through Piccadilly Circus and Trafalgar Square. The general atmosphere seemed just what the Conservatives had claimed in their campaign: "Britons never had it so good."

There was only a fleeting sour note on election day despite the hard-fought campaign. The only report of violence came from the London district of former Fascist leader Sir Oswald Mosley, who ended up at the bottom of the poll as a candidate for his union movement.

Although the prime minister said at the outset of the campaign that it was designed to determine Britain's representatives at forthcoming international negotiations, it was largely fought on domestic issues, principally Gaitskell's promise to increase old-age pensions and eliminate taxation on household articles and other non-luxury articles without increasing the income tax.

PLANS UNSOUND
The Conservatives attacked his proposals as financially unsound. They also argued that their policies had brought prosperity to the country—a claim disputed by their opponents, who pointed to unemployment in some areas and criticized Labour's proposal to nationalize steel and road transport.

Tory Victory Birthday Gift

'Name' Dragged Through Mud

French actor Jean Marais doesn't seem to be enjoying the trip as he's dragged through the mud outside Paris. Marais was testing pants made of a new "miracle" fabric and hauled through mud and water to test the material's durability and crease-resistance.

Civil Defence Shift 'Disaster'

OTTAWA (UPI)—The man who has headed Canada's civil defence organization for the past two years has charged that the government's re-organization of civil defence duties will be "ineffective in peace and disastrous in war."

Maj.-Gen. George Hutton, who announced two weeks ago that he was resigning his $11,500 a year post as deputy federal civil defence co-ordinator, said in his letter of resignation that the new setup will produce divided ministerial responsibility and inadequate co-ordination of organization and staff.

The letter, dated Sept. 22, was released yesterday by Welfare Minister J. Waldo Mon-teith. The minister also disclosed the contents of his reply in which he said that time and experience would prove the government right.

The new civil defence system, which went into effect Sept. 1, shifted a large portion of the civil defence role from the welfare department's civil-

Penny Thefts Draw Six Years

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Two youths who admitted stealing 80 pennies and three packages of cigarettes were sentenced to six years in prison. The terms were imposed on Robert Monroe Carter, 18, and Jack C. Jordan, 17, on their guilty pleas to second-degree burglary of a service station.

Dudes in Soviet Navy Draw Admiral's Fire

MOSCOW (Reuters)—The Russian navy is having its troubles.

A Soviet navy commander wrote the services newspaper to complain about young officers sporting "fancy side-whiskers, semi-female hair styles, huge buckles on shoes and short trousers which don't cover their shoes."

The paper, Soviet Fleet, also printed a letter from a rear-admiral saying too many young naval officers are busy "remaking their uniforms."

The admiral also didn't approve of lads who liked sandals and open-collar sport shirts.

He suggested an antidote not unknown in other navies—shore patrols. The admiral said they should check tailor shops to stop this "passion for embellishing the uniform."

Canadians Draw Line On 'Obey U.S.' Order

TORONTO (UPI)—Canadian labor unions appear to be breaking away from their parent U.S. unions in a growing dispute over the enforcement of the new United States labor control act in this country, a survey of union officials disclosed yesterday.

The act bars Communists or anyone convicted of certain criminal offenses within the past five years from holding a union office.

The American unions are trying to force this legislation onto their Canadian locals, and early indications are that the Canadian labor officials don't like it.

The teamsters union is the first to publicly try and bring its Canadian locals into line with the new American legislation. The outcome of the effort is expected to guide other unions.

Canadian teamster chief Casey Dodds has protested the imposition of any U.S. laws on Canadian citizens and the Canadian Labor Congress is reported to have advised its members to ignore the U.S. legislation, at least for the time being.

Said Dodds "They're not going to shove this down our necks. My Canadian birthright means more to me than attendance at some convention in Detroit or a position on the international executive. I suppose I'll get fired for saying it, but that's the way I feel about it."

One teamster official in Toronto, research director Jack Robinson, said enforcement would amount to what he called "swearing allegiance to the stars and stripes."

Helicopter Flies Out Injured

EDMONTON (CP)—Two men were injured, one seriously, when a small civilian plane carrying five persons crashed into snow-covered bush in northeast Alberta Wednesday, the RCAF reported late Thursday.

All five were picked up by helicopter and taken to McMurray, Alta., when an RCAF transport plane was standing by to fly them to Edmonton. If this was found necessary.

Aboard the plane were B. P. Schmidt, the pilot, Eric Hackel and Morne Duplessis, both of Edmonton, J. Loweree and a Mr. Schwenk, both of Alhambra, Calif.

Nehru Warns Red China To Toe Mark

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru warned Peking yesterday that India will resist any further moves across the Tibetan border by Chinese Communist troops.

"We do not intend to start military operations against these places at this stage when we are dealing with the situation on a political level," he told his monthly press conference.

The Case Is Good

IN the normal role of things a ship or any other structure will be built where this can be done most cheaply consistent with good workmanship. When governments build them however another factor enters the picture. There is the need to keep industry going in the national interest and thus provide employment. That is why government naval contracts have hitherto been spread across the country by regional apportionment.

The defence department has a 22,000-ton naval tanker to build, a valuable order for any yard, but it has departed from its usual principle. It has called for bids from all Canadian shipyards. On this basis of award the West Coast yards have a poor chance to win the contract unless some differential is allowed for the higher wage and other costs which attend the higher B.C. standard of living. B.C. in effect would be penalized for achieving material advancement.

Local shipyard and civic leaders are pressing the case for a differential, and Premier Bennett will also take the matter up when he goes to Ottawa next week. The premier put his finger on a point worth noting when he said that while west coast shipyard workers may have a higher wage scale than eastern workers they perform pay more income taxes out of their earnings.

This may seem slender argument of itself but it is magnified by the fact that all earnings and costs in connection with shipbuilding here return more revenue to Ottawa than does any other place. Money spent on shipbuilding seeps through society because thousands other than shipwrights are effected, and tax revenues of all kinds are therefore greater. When a government order is placed the government gets a good share of its money back.

There is another factor of importance. The west coast builds fine ships, better than some other yards elsewhere. It has been said in the industry in fact that B.C. yards lead the parade in this respect. They build them quickly too, as the speedy construction of Mv. Sidney at VMD makes amply clear. In Victoria for instance there are skilled teams of workers willing and able to tackle any shipbuilding job.

The west coast case for a fair chance to bid for the new naval tanker is a good one and warrants the cost differential sought. There is the further point that because of its favorable climate many Canadian workers flock to this province, so that unemployment becomes to a special degree a national concern. Otherwise the dice are unfairly loaded against B.C. and a big ship provides thousands of jobs.

Serving Two Masters

WHAT was done at the B.C. Federation of Labor convention in Vancouver this week may cause more harm to organized labor than any good it may do to the chances of the CCF in the next provincial election. Disregarding the sage advice of the president of the Canadian Labor Congress a short time ago, the British Columbia federation, by a far from unanimous vote, adopted the recommendation of a committee that the CCF should be supported both politically and financially.

That decision by the parent organization of provincial labor unions does violence to the right of the individual to choose his own brand of politics. It doesn't matter which political party the federation decides to back; nor is this a case in which the democratic system of voting should prevail. That system is not always right—certainly not when it tends to infringe on the political freedom of the individual, as it does in this instance.

The fact that union dues will not be used to support the CCF does not make a wrong principle right. The scheme to finance political action by means of "voluntary donations" of $1 each from union members is equally reprehensible. No man should be asked to disclose by inference or otherwise what his political views may be; and a request for a donation to support any named political party is tantamount to a request for a statement as to whether or not the person approached supports that particular party.

Apart from these matters of principle—so ably and pointedly expounded at the recent convention of the CLC as arguments against involving labor in politics—there is in the action at Vancouver serious risk to organized labor of internal disaffection. Although political action was endorsed by a majority, it is noteworthy that some 50 delegates representing a many times greater number of union members were against the federation entering politics. These men are not likely to feel happy about affiliation with an organization now pledged to support a political party in which they as individuals may not believe. The "voluntary donation" device in no way removes that conscientious objection.

World Geiger Count

CANADA'S proposal for what amounts to a universal geiger count at surface level throughout the world of harmful radiation from atomic ash is a constructive one. For the short-run such a test if universally conducted would settle the base level of such radiation now; while this in turn would serve as a guide to the correction of any excess discharges in any region. On a permanent basis, under the guidance of the world meteorological service, such a chain of testing stations would be invaluable; because nuclear energy is coming into industrial usage and radioactive fallouts are not too well known.

Diplomatically, External Affairs Minister Green's proposal may prove important. If world powers could agree on a survey of radiation resulting from peaceful use of fissionable materials, the road forward into international accord on control and supervision of atomic weapons might be less rugged than it has proved in the discussions of the past. Since nuclear fission leaves some harmful after effects, in some instances persisting for years, it is sensible that this condition be faced and dealt with before the use of atomic power multiplies, as it is bound to do for peaceful purposes if for no other. The moderation of Mr. Green's argument also strengthened the plea.

Interpreting the News

Constitutional Problem

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Editor

ONE of the left-overs from the Second World War and the brave new world that never quite emerged is the constitution of present-day Japan.

Largely, it was imposed upon the Japanese by the United States. Today, it is proving a two-edged sword which could upset the whole U.S. defence concept for the free nations of Asia.

The present constitution was promulgated Nov. 3, 1946, in the comparatively early days after the end of the war. It brought about three fundamental changes in the Japanese political system.

It destroyed the theory of the Emperor's divinity, it renounced forever war and the threat of war, and it banned the maintenance of land, sea and air forces or other war potential.

U.S. occupation of Japan ended on April 28, 1952, when the Japanese regained their status as a sovereign people. The new constitution long since had shown its weaknesses but nothing ever had been done to change it. Largely due to pressure from the leftist-leaning Socialists.

Chief weakness was the clause which forbade Japan even from maintaining defensive forces.

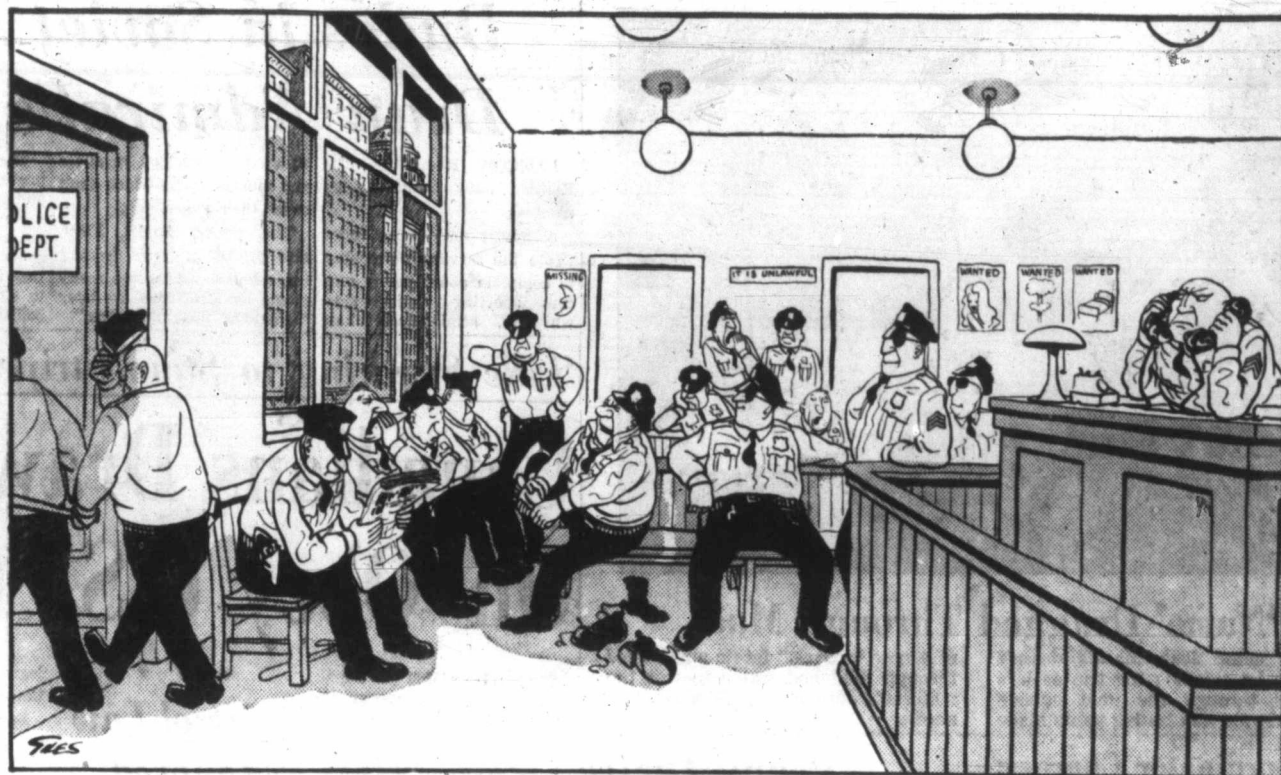

On June 25, 1950, the Communists invaded South Korea, less than an hour's flying time from the tip of Japan. And on July 9, 1950, Gen. Douglas MacArthur acted in his role of commander-in-chief of occupying forces in Japan and authorized establishment of a 75,000-man "national police reserve."

It was the beginning of a new Japanese army but it ignored the constitution.

The constitution similarly was ignored in September, 1953, when Premier Shigeru Yoshida's government announced formation of a 164,000-man land, sea and air national defence force.

Meanwhile, Japan continued to develop as one of the United States' staunchest allies in Asia, permitting indefinite maintenance of U.S. bases and military manpower on Japanese territory.

A threat to that happy relationship came in a violent riot which erupted in July, 1957, at the U.S. air base at Tachikawa, just outside Tokyo.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

YOU might think that by dropping a missile on the moon man has reached an acme of achievement. And I suppose he has. But long ago, actually, he went one better.

Sometimes it's said that the greatest invention of all time was the wheel, upon which all mechanical motion rests. Believing as I do that human beings are more important than Sputniks or Luniks I plump instead for the art of printing.

Printing had a predecessor of course in the spoken word. If man had never learned to communicate with his fellows we wouldn't have to be thinking of nuclear shelters; we'd still be cave dwellers. But man spread his wings in real style when he managed to write and then, inevitably, to put his words in print.

Remember that if there were no printed word there could be no universal education. Inked type it is which has blessed and enriched the human world by conveyance. If you are a bookman think of the tragedy of a bookless world. School children might not agree for otherwise they might have a year-long holiday, but as they grow to sensibility their views change.

These stray thoughts are evoked by a little pamphlet before me, a nicely-produced example of well-ordered script. One wouldn't expect otherwise for it is the product of printers themselves, our printers, the fellows downstairs who will set up this column for your inspection.

If, looking some morn at your daily newspaper, you are tempted to think it is not exactly the last word in typographical art, just remember this. A newspaper is produced at a tempo that would turn an outsider's hair grey. There isn't the time to balance aesthetic pros and cons.

It happens, you see, that our printers are celebrating the 75th anniversary of their local union, number 201 of the well-known I.T.U. Seventy-five years is a long time in Victoria, as the contents of this booklet reveal; it has been an era of constant change and advancement.

But I am not concerned so much with the record as with the printers themselves. I depend on them, daily. If they did not do my column up neatly—and correct my mistakes—I might often be sadly amiss. Perhaps you imagine printers are mechanical men but if so you are far off the mark. They are guides, philosophers and friends to the writing fraternity.

In their own realm, too—that of craftsmanship—they cause me continual wonder. Countless times I have watched their nimble fingers speed over the linotype keyboard, and never without envy. By comparison I am an awkward slowpoke at my own keyboard, the typewriter. By now also, merely by absorption, I should be able to read metal type upside down and backward, as they do when making up pages; but instead this feat remains as big a mystery to me as any lunik.

Every man to his own aptitudes, I know, yet I seldom fail to feel inferior when I note the celerity and skill with which my printer friends do their job. If my brain and fingers functioned as felicitously as theirs seem to do my days would be full of unalloyed delight.

This then is my humble tribute to a group of fellow workers who this weekend have a notable date to commemorate—the 75th anniversary of their printing charter. As I said at the beginning the conveyance of thought by the printed word is man's most valuable achievement; these colleagues of mine, therefore, are of honorable vocation.

May they continue to save me from error, and may their next 75 years be fruitful and pleasant.

Foreign Aid In Need of Overhaul

By MARQUIS CHILDS

IN the aftermath of the first tentative and timid thaw in East-West relations it is fashionable to try to prove that nothing has really changed with the rhythm of Communist crisis and Western response still prevailing.

A case in point is Iran. The alarm bell has been sounded with ominous predictions that Iran will go the way of neighboring Iraq and the regime of the Shah swept away with the same swift brutality. That would spell the end of the late John Foster Dulles' Baghdad or Central Treaty Organization, or CENTO.

But observers both in and out of government feel that the pessimism over Iran is exaggerated. While keeping their fingers crossed, remembering how little prepared they were for the lightning to strike in Baghdad, they say the regime of the Shah has the backing of the army, which is the decisive force.

There are signs of economic growth in Iran that cannot be readily dismissed. The Industrial and Mining Development Bank, started with New York capital and some help from the World Bank, has attracted Iranian investors. Progress is being made on a power and irrigation project costing more than $100,000,000 under the direction of a firm headed by David E. Lilienthal, former chairman of the Lilienthal, Tennessee Valley authority. Here, too, the World Bank is providing backing.

What seems to be happening in Iran is less alarming for the short haul but perhaps more threatening for the long pull. At a press conference the other day the Shah said Iran might accept Soviet economic aid while pursuing the political and military policies of recent years to insure the nation's independence and security.

At about the same time Moscow broadcasts denouncing the Shah were stopped. The Soviet ambassador returned to Teheran after an absence of several months and similarly the Iranian ambassador returned to his post in Moscow.

If he accepts Soviet economic aid, the Shah will be following the example of Afghanistan. There conspicuous Soviet projects, such as paying the streets of the primitive capital of Kabul, have created a strong impression. The United States has been financing in Afghanistan the kind of long-term programs that pay off over the years but lack the immediate promise of a leap forward into the 20th century.

This is likely to be the pattern of competition which increasingly the United States must face. It is competitive co-existence; a kind of competition that the Soviet Union is in many respects better equipped to wage than the United States. One of the casualties of the last session of Congress was the proposal for a long-term development loan fund which would have helped to remove the stop-and-start, year-to-year handicap of the American foreign aid program.

If anyone in authority had the time—a most unlikely prospect—this might be the moment to consider a thorough overhaul of the whole aid program in the light of swiftly changing conditions. It is currently limping along under the weight of past errors and present uncertainties.

Such an overhaul should take into account the whole approach to the competition with Moscow for the uncommitted peoples. Too often the Communists have been represented as 10 feet tall. They have been credited with initiating revolution when, in fact, they have merely exploited deep revolutionary currents of disaffection. The United States has either been unaware of those currents, as in Baghdad, or has undertaken, too often ineffectually, to channel them into orderly change.

It will not do, for example, to paint little Laos as the brave defender of freedom against the Communist dragon. The holes in that picture were too painfully evident as the evanescent war vanished in the Lao-tian jungles.

The counsel of despair is that the United States, being the kind of democracy it is, cannot compete with Soviet communism using the tactics of dictatorship. Or, some voices in government have been saying, we must be ready to use the same tactics—the unstable government of Laos can be propped up only by a thinly disguised American occupation for an indefinite time.

But surely before there has been any serious exploration of America's capabilities this is surrender with the battle hardly begun. America has the resources, and the will and the methods and the means can be found.

Best in the End

Britain Ponders Currency

(From The Montreal Gazette)

ONE of the several things that Britain may be forced to do under the pressure of the European common markets will be to change her ancient, charming and absolutely impractical money system.

One of the many wonderful things which the early Napoleonic regime accomplished—before Napoleon, like Mussolini after him, began to devote all his country's energy to war—was the installation of the metric system. This system, with a basic unit of 10, has enormously simplified the measuring chores in every country which has adopted it.

The young idealists of the United States had introduced the decimal money system in 1786, but they unfortunately retained all the other British measurements.

From France, the complete decimal system spread through Europe, from Scandinavia to Siberia, from the Baltic to the Mediterranean; it was adopted in Latin America, in Canada, in Japan and in Nationalist China.

In 1961, South Africa and Australia will adopt it.

The British have clung to a system which, like so many things British, is a compromise between several systems. Twelve pence make a shilling, but it takes 20 shillings to make a pound (and 21 to make a guinea). These measures are complicated by the coinage below the first paper money (10 shillings); the coins are the farthing, half-penny, penny, three-pence, sixpence, shilling, florin (2 shillings), and half-crown (25 shillings).

What is proposed now does not involve really great changes. The guinea would disappear and there would be 10 pence to the shilling, 200 pence to the pound. The pound would be worth 1,000 "mills"; a penny would rate 5 mills, a shilling 50 mills.

This change might easily prove superior to the older decimal system because 20 is a better number to work with than 10; it can be divided by two, four, five and 10, though 10 can be divided only by two and five.

The changeover would be a tremendous job and tremendously costly, but Britain might wind up with the best money system in the world.

Pisa's Toppling Tower

(From The Hamilton Spectator)

PISA's famous leaning tower is a source of continual anxiety to the Italian people. The fact that it leans is worth a lot of tourist money; it is, if you pardon the pun, a tower of financial strength. But there is always the fear that some day—it may be decades ahead—the tower will lean too far.

The tower has been examined by engineers from many countries. The latest among these, a British firm, has made its own diagnosis and has suggested a treatment, a "cure" being, of course, impossible.

It seems that Pisa's tower weighs 17,000 tons and is 13 and a half feet out of the upright; it leans at the top nine-tenths of a millimetre more each year. Engineers think it will be safe for another 50 years, perhaps 200, so if it happens to be on lists of long-postponed sights-to-see there is still plenty of time.

According to the engineers, centuries ago the tower leaned on the other side, righted itself and reversed the lean. A tower that can't do that might do anything, even change its mind, if it has one, and go back whence it came.

A wise man will hear, and will increase in learning; and a man of understanding shall attain unto wise counsels.—Proverbs, 1:5.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

HAVE you noticed lately that TV announcers who deliver the commercials are getting homelier? Both women and men?

There are still a few doll-faced models used in such commercials as hair sets and shampoos, and the odd fairly fancy man says a few words for hair oil or even cigarettes—though the cigarette boys usually just pose, while a manly voice off-stage does the talking.

But in a great many other lines of merchandise, and I think it is now the majority, the trend towards the homely is becoming quite pronounced. Lots of the girl announcers wear glasses. Many of them are so homely they look like that girl down the street that you never look at. And as for the men, especially the pill-pushers and medicine-men, they are middle-aged, solemn, and plainer than undertakers. This is probably due to the fact that they are trying to look like doctors. The advertising profession seems to think doctors are the next thing to undertakers.

The reason for this trend towards the homely and plain is doubtless due to the theory of mass production. Mass production is based on the principle that everybody must have everything. From motor cars and refrigerators down to hair-do's and sweet stomachs, everybody must have everything. And since everybody can't have good looks, then it is an affront to the theory of mass production to be good-looking. It is also infra dig to be intelligent. What we are working towards is a grand univorous equality, homelier than a hen.

Bogus Bills Confiscated

HALIFAX (CP)—Halifax RCMP seized $60,000 in bogus $20 bills near here Thursday and arrested two men and a woman in their search for a counterfeit ring operating here and in Montreal.

Jack Rout, 31-year-old photo engraver, pleaded guilty to a charge of making counterfeit currency. Colin Falconer, 44, was arraigned on a charge of counterfeiting and Mrs. Jean Robb, 34, was charged with passing counterfeit bills. They entered no pleas.

UN Debates Khrushchev Arms Plan

(CP)—The UN political committee agreed unanimously Thursday to begin immediate debate on the total disarmament plan of Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

Priority for the Khrushchev plan was proposed by the chairman of the 82-member committee, Ambassador Franz Matsch of Austria, after private consultations. His proposal was accepted without debate.

Rites Set Saturday For Robert Mackay

Funeral services for Robert Tindal Mackay, 71, a native of Victoria, will be held at 1:30 p.m. Saturday in St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay.

Mr. Mackay, who was born in 1888, died yesterday in St. Joseph's Hospital. He was a member of a pioneer Victoria family. His mother, Mrs. Harriet Mackay, was born in 1854 in old Fort Victoria.

He attended South Park School and the old Central High School, then joined the staff of the Victoria Post Office. He left the post office after 25 years of service to join the welfare department at City Hall. He retired six years ago.

Mr. Mackay was an agent for the National Film Council, filling the entertainment period of the meetings of many local organizations with showings of council films.

Succeed Low? Not a Chance Says Bennett

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Premier Bennett said Thursday night there is not a chance he will seek the national leadership of the Social Credit party.

Mr. Bennett, here for a cabinet meeting, was questioned about reports he will take another look at the possibility of succeeding Solon Low as party leader.

"My heart is in B.C. and all my work lies here," he said. "There is not a chance that I will accept."

"I shall be far too busy planning the next decade of Social Credit progress in this province to allow my attention to be distracted by national leadership problems."

Mr. Bennett declined to name leading candidates for the Social Credit leadership.

Two newspaper, The Colonist and the Vancouver Sun, said Mr. Bennett will be sought at Social Credit's national convention at Ottawa next July. The newspapers noted the premier has repeatedly denied national ambitions, but added that in recent months he has strongly criticized the Diefenbaker government.

C. A. P. MURISON

Murison Retiring

DUNCAN—Reeve C. A. P. Murison last night announced his retirement from municipal politics.

Immediate past-president of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities, Reeve Murison made the announcement at the end of a three-hour meeting of North Cowichan council.

Reeve Murison refused to give any reason for his decision to quit municipal politics, but did admit to an interest in higher politics.

As president of the UBCM, Reeve Murison was bitterly critical of the provincial government's policy in dealing with municipalities.

He refused last night to say whether his interest lay in the provincial or federal fields, but admitted he had been approached to stand as a political candidate.

'Enormous Red Mass'

Vancouverites Spot Hovering 'Things'

VANCOUVER (CP)—The mysterious flying objects in this area are still scaring and exciting residents into stories of satellites and spaceships.

Bus driver Albert Pain said yesterday he saw an object in the sky that was travelling at high speed towards the northeast. He said he watched it for a full minute and it definitely wasn't an aircraft.

Another story came of an "enormous solid mass of bright red." This one, seen by Mrs. W. Smith Inglis, was apparently over the University area in Point Grey last Friday.

Mrs. Inglis said the object moved steadily over the area and descended behind some trees. It then rose steadily again and disappeared—all in a matter of minutes.

Ugly, Shocking

Lynching Lid Lifts Today

CHELSEA, Vt. (UPI)—The lid is pried off a stark New England lynching today in the guise of the murder trial of a grade school janitor named Robert Welch.

A jury of nine men and three women was picked late yesterday after more than 100 other persons had been excused. The opening prosecution statement against Welch will be heard today.

Before his trial is over, there will be ugly and shocking revelations here in the high Vermont hills where foliage is bursting into flame in fall's great spectacle. For it is frankly accepted that a group of men in a tiny farm community took it upon themselves to act as vigilantes and punish—to death—a man most people disliked.

The victim was Orville Gibson, 47, a prosperous dairy farm owner. He was a disagreeable man, a loner, a bit of a bully. He was a worker, too, and had built his farm into one of the best around the town of Newbury, Vt., 20 miles east of this county seat. New England taciturnity is renowned and never more rightly so than in the slaying of Gibson.

His body, bound with rope hand and foot, was found in the Connecticut River a year and one-half ago. An autopsy showed he had been strangled before he was thrown into the river.

CHARGED WITH MURDER

Welch, 45, and another man, Frank Carpenter, 43, a mill worker, have been charged with his murder. Carpenter's trial is to follow Welch's, but before the next week is over people sitting as spectators in the courtroom may be accused themselves.

Vermont's attorney-general Frederick Reed is prosecuting the case personally. Suspense had been intensified by Reed's refusal to make known the line the prosecution will take.

The known facts are these: On Christmas Eve, 1957, Gibson and his hired hand, Erle Martin, were moving milk cans from a barn. Gibson was a strapping man of 190 pounds. The 57-year-old Martin is a scrawny 115.

Somehow Martin spilled two 85-pound cans of milk. The irate Gibson threw him from the barn. Martin claimed he was beaten badly and suffered two cracked ribs. He told his cronies in Newbury about it.

On new year's eve, a week later, Gibson disappeared. His body was found in the river 85 days later.

The entire community of about 1,500 Newbury was evasive. State investigators brought residents in for lie detector tests. It was discovered a druggist was giving several of them tranquilizers before they took the test.

The community held its silence though there was no question that murder had been committed.

But gradually the story leaked. And now it is common knowledge in this area. On New Year's Eve, 14 or 15 men were drinking heavily at a farm. They decided to give Gibson a "going over" in return for his treatment of Martin and for past misconduct, fancied or real. Gibson had become a sort of image of "the meanest man in town."

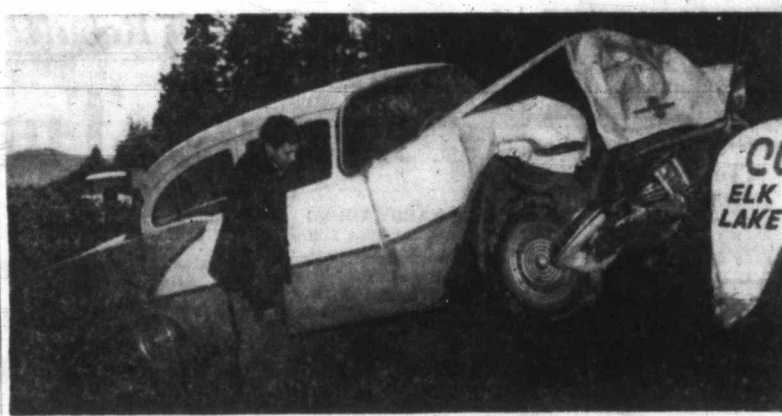

They treated the farmer so roughly they killed him. Then they dumped his body in the river and tacitly agreed on their conspiracy of silence.

CHARGES NARROWED

How or why the state narrowed down its murder charges to Welch and Carpenter has not been disclosed. There is reason to believe the attorney-general feels the lynching may explode into the open when the screws are put on Welch.

In an unprecedented action, a Vermont judge freed Welch on $40,000 bail though his accusation was first degree murder. The money was put up by Walter Renfrew, elderly and wealthy farmer who had known Welch since he was a boy.

So today, Welch has no guard whatsoever. At day's end, like spectators, lawyers and all, he goes home while the 12 jurors are locked up. Welch's life has not been a successful one. He has failed in one business after another until he was making only the pay of a school janitor. Now he stands accused of a murder which all his friends know was not the work of one man but of a New England lynching party.

Pat Bay Highway

Bad Spin Crash Injures Five

Five people were rushed to Royal Jubilee Hospital late yesterday afternoon following a spinning crash on the Patricia Bay Highway near the northern border of Central Saanich.

Two were brought in by Central Saanich ambulance; one by Saanich police; two by Sidney ambulance.

Victims included Edward T. Hicks, 947 Westing, who was described as in poor condition; Mrs. Annie Spriggs, of Vancouver, under observation and in fair condition; Mrs. Edith Jackson of Burnaby suffering shock and cuts; James W. Bond of James Island and his son Jimmy, who both were released from Royal Jubilee Hospital after treatment for cuts.

CITY-BOUND

Both cars apparently were heading towards the city at the time. Police said one was about to turn left into a driveway when the second struck it on the left rear fender.

The first car swerved across the road to the left side, skidding into a ditch. The second swung into a long curve, its front end damaged, through the right-hand ditch to a bank and back onto the shoulder of the road.

HEAVY TRAFFIC

Heavy traffic, home-bound from the city and southbound from the races, was directed past the scene by Central Saanich police and Sidney RCMP.

At 8:25 a.m. yesterday a woman pedestrian, Thelma Campbell of 2853 Prior, was injured when she collided with a car at Hillside and Prior. Driver of the car, westbound on Hillside, was Margaret Parkhouse, 4032 Shelbourne.

ACROSS HILLSIDE

Miss Campbell was running across Hillside at the time. City police took her to Royal Jubilee Hospital, where she was treated for pelvic injuries.

A naval seaman suffered cuts to the left side of his face and head at 10:10 a.m. yesterday in a collision between his car and a truck at Montreal and Superior.

George B. Walker, Patricia Bay, was taken to Naden Hospital for treatment.

Civil Defence Jobs Covered

Civil defence workers are to be covered by workmen's compensation for death or injury while on duty.

The province yesterday signed an agreement with Ottawa whereby the costs are to be shared.

Won't Testify at 'Fix' Probe

Quiz Champ Van Doren Suspended for 'Silence'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—TV winner Charles Van Doren was suspended from his $50,000-a-year job by the National Broadcasting Company yesterday until questions raised by House investigators are resolved.

NBC announced Van Doren's suspension in New York shortly after chairman Owen Harris disclosed that he had been invited to testify before a House commerce subcommittee and had not yet replied.

The subcommittee is investigating charges that the old NBC "21" program, on which Van Doren won $129,000, and other television quiz shows were rigged. Van Doren won a place on "21" by defeating New Yorker Herbert Stempel. Stempel has testified that shows in which he took part were rigged. He said he had no direct knowledge that Van Doren took part in the "fix" or knew that the show was rigged. But Stempel also said co-producer Dan Enright told him the exact scores both Stempel and Van Doren would make.

Harris disclosed that the subcommittee had turned down Van Doren's request to insert in its official record a written statement which Van Doren submitted earlier.

The statement repeated Van Doren's previous denial that he ever had been given questions or answers in advance on "21," or that he had any knowledge of assistance given other contestants.

Intervention Justified

TORONTO (CP) — Finance Minister Fleming said yesterday that events have "fully justified" the government's action in intervention last August in the routine weekly sale of government treasury bills.

He said the "bold and unusual action" by the government on Aug. 20 in rejecting a number of high-interest bids for the bills has been followed by a settling down of the treasury bill market to "a much more rational basis."

Mr. Fleming in a speech to the Empire Club here also said there is "no valid foundation for any suggestion" that the Bank of Canada interest rate has any significant relationship to interest rates charged by chartered banks.

The finance minister also hit at those who blame "Ottawa" for bank credit restrictions.

The banks were "acting on their own initiative" when they restricted lending operations in May and again in August, he said.

"In doing so there was no need for any of the banks to blame anyone else... The situation was the result of unprecedented demand for credit, and the lending resources of the banks were not unlimited."

The minister, in his first major speech since the credit squeeze reached its peak in late summer, made these other points:

1. There has been "no freezing of the money supply" although total supply has been relatively stable for the last 12 months.
2. It is "a fallacy of the deepest dye" to say that a measure of inflation would reduce interest rates.
3. The government is not letting up in its anti-inflation battle to preserve the dollar's value.

Catholic Parley Expects 900 Canadian Delegates

OTTAWA (CP) — Nine hundred delegates are expected to attend the Catholic Social Life Conference to be held at Sudbury, Ont., Friday to Sunday.

The conference organizers are planning the program so that all the bishops, priests, nuns, brothers and lay people attending will have a chance to discuss in small, intimate groups the topic of each formal address.

Aim of the conference is to explore how the concept of Christian family life can be better understood and applied in the modern world.

Plenary sessions are to be

MY GUIDEPOST, making the lead in first quarter, set pace all the way and just managed to hold on to get the nod. SIR LEA made up ground steadily through last quarter but could not run winner down in time. PEN PEN broke fast, bore out badly on first turn, almost causing FOOT WORK to go down then forced winner most of the way, dropped back slightly on stretch turn but came again in final quarter. FLAMING HART, runner-up, was going up at finish. STOLEN LOVE went every back of leaders and could never move up to challenge. FOOT WORK, well placed in run to first turn, had to take out of tight quarters when PEN PEN bore out and lost all chance, rider being lucky in being able to keep from going down.

Overweight—Foot Work (2), Sir Lea (3), Stolen Love (3).

Idealistic Challenge to West

Russia Rid of Fears

MONTREAL (CP) — Isaac Deutscher, writer, historian and an authority on Soviet Russia, Wednesday night called on the West to meet an awakening spirit in Russia.

"The startling feeling of hope, optimism, idealism that has erupted in the Soviet Union is nothing short of dynamic," he said in addressing a public meeting in McGill University's Moyse Hall.

WORLD OF HOPE

"The people have awakened from the catastrophe of wars, of discontentment, of apathy into a new world of hope, of greatest objectives to become the world's leader in industry.

"Can we among ourselves kindle a similar enthusiasm and compete for these great objectives, great ideas? If we can, then there will be no competition in the world but co-operation. If we cannot, then Russia will surely win this competition."

Mr. Deutscher was expelled from the Polish Communist party in his native Poland in the 1930s because of his anti-Stalin views. He has lived in Britain for the last 20 years and his writings on Soviet affairs have appeared in newspapers and magazines. He left Poland before the Second World War.

"The Soviet people are in a profoundly pacifist mood and no ruler could be more popular than the one who can bring about total disarmament. This, I believe, is behind Khrushchev's challenge before the United Nations when he called for disarmament in four years. He was speaking for a new society."

Bobby Coming Helmet and All

Great Britain's recent record tourist season is the result of such gestures as the arrival here next month of an honest-to-goodness London bobby, Victoria tourist official Sam Lane said yesterday.

"Britain as usual is on the ball," said the man who unsuccessfully tried to put Victoria's policemen back into bobby helmets earlier this year.

Mr. Lane, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce tourist trade group, said last night that such distinguishing marks as bobby helmets should not be abandoned.

"These things are being abandoned on the altar of nationalism but in my opinion they don't detract at all from being a Canadian.

"Nobody is more enthusiastic about Canada than I am," Mr. Lane said.

He said that for a Canadian city to abandon bobby helmets because they are of English origin makes no more sense than if Canadians abandoned kilts because they are Scottish.

Const. Norman Nibbs, 45, a London bobby, will arrive in Victoria Nov. 4 in full uniform and with his bobby helmet clamped securely on his head.

From here he will launch a cross-Canada tour designed to promote travel to the United Kingdom.

Introducing 1960 MERCURY TRUCKS the BIG advance in durability

PROVEN ECONOMY: Recent U.S. tests certified Mercury's Short-Stroke Six averaged 25.2% better gas mileage than all competitive Six engines.

PROVEN SHORT STROKE DESIGN: Develops high horsepower with less effort and wear—gives greater durability for longer engine life.

IMPROVED ROCKER COVER: New Keystone design gasket is coated with double neoprene for better sealing and greater gasket durability.

IMPROVED ELECTRICAL WIRING: New insulation gives better protection against oil, gas and abrasion—triples electrical reliability.

NEW NYLON KING PIN BUSHINGS: Provide longer wear, require no special tools or line reaming to replace, as do conventional bushings.

PROVEN 13-IN. TWO-PLATE CLUTCH: Large facing gears with solid discs give high torque capacity to stand up on rugged extra heavy duty service.

PROVEN DRIVERIZED CABS: Strong, more durable cabs stand up to rugged service. New heater keeps cab up to 10° warmer, defrosts better.

NEW STRONGER FRAMES: Wider, heavier gauge crossmembers provide 23% greater frame rigidity on Light Duty models, adds to smooth ride.

PROVEN 4-WHEEL DRIVE: Shift from 2-wheel to 4-wheel direct drive without stopping or clutching. Transfer case has two PTO openings.

PROVEN MOST COMFORTABLE RIDE: Impact-O-Graph test with Light Duty models proves Mercury is the smoothest riding of all.

NEW MILITARY WRAP REAR SPRINGS: Spring eye is double wrapped to provide extra strength and greater durability on Super Duties.

NEW NON-SLIP DIFFERENTIAL: Transfers power to rear wheel with traction, reduces chance of bogging down or skidding on slippery surfaces.

MORE PROVEN FEATURES! NEW RUGGED STYLE!

Built-in durability has always been a Mercury Truck plus. And now, new improvements throughout offer you still greater "stay-on-the-job" might. Under Mercury's modern new styling lie stronger frames with greater rigidity to better resist the torsional strains of top payloads, rugged routes. Improved springs last longer while providing a better ride. New electrical wiring gives greater reliability—lasts up to three times longer. New engine durability features include new crankshaft knurling for better oil retention—and new neoprene seals to add to drive line center bearing life by keeping out water and dirt more effectively. On top of this, independent tests certified that the design of Mercury's Six gave 25.2% better gas mileage than the next leading make, in every kind of driving.

Longer truck life, less downtime and greater gas savings are just a few of the reasons why it will pay you to "Work-a-Merc", Six or V-8, on your job. More are listed on the left—but your Mercury Truck dealer can tell you about all the new and proven features. See him soon.

Certain features illustrated or mentioned are standard on some models, optional at extra cost on others.

Youth Fined For Painting An Obscenity

Convicted on two charges of wilful damage under the value of $50, a Saanich youth was fined $25 on each in Saanich police court yesterday.

John Albert Davis, 2222 Edgewood, was found guilty of painting an obscenity on a Saanich home and on the driveway of Mt. Douglas High School, both on the evening of Sept. 16.

"You said yourself in direct testimony it was a stupid thing to do," said the magistrate to a accused. "That was the beginning and end of it."

Beer Case Heard

The giant pulp and paper company, Crown-Zellerbach, is being sued over the manufacture of suitcase-type beer cartons.

Plaintiff in the case now under way in Exchange Court here is Unipak Cartons, which says it is the owner of the patent.

Unipak claims Crown-Zellerbach is infringing on the patent by making cartons with handles attached, which make it easy to carry a dozen beer.

All the evidence—including piles of beer cartons—is expected to be in by the end of next week. The case will then be recessed to Ottawa for argument.

Mayor Becomes Senator

Generosity Alters Luck

A grateful mother expressed her thanks yesterday to generous Greater Victoria residents who turned her family's bad luck into heartwarming good luck.

She is Mrs. Jo-Anne Claxton, East Saanich Indian Reserve, who two weeks ago lost a purse in Victoria containing $166, all the money the family had.

A fund started by the B.C. Indian Arts and Welfare Society, with Col. Gilbert Howland as administrator, soon totalled $240.

Children and Fire Bad Combination

Children and fire make a bad—often a tragic—combination, and firemen of Greater Victoria are anxious to keep them apart.

Local 730, International Association of Fire Fighters, has inaugurated a challenge trophy competition for schools of Victoria and Oak Bay. The competition deals with fire inspections, drills, and lectures on a point system, and includes kindergartens, elementary, high and private schools. Spokesman for the fire fighters, Art Leason, said: "Parents accompany their little ones to school to assure them of safety from traffic, getting lost, or getting wet feet. These same parents assume their children are quite safe in school rooms. "The record disproves this, and we of the fire service feel it is most essential that all possible means be employed to reduce and eliminate every possible risk in our schools."

Use This Home Recipe Plan to Lose Ugly Fat

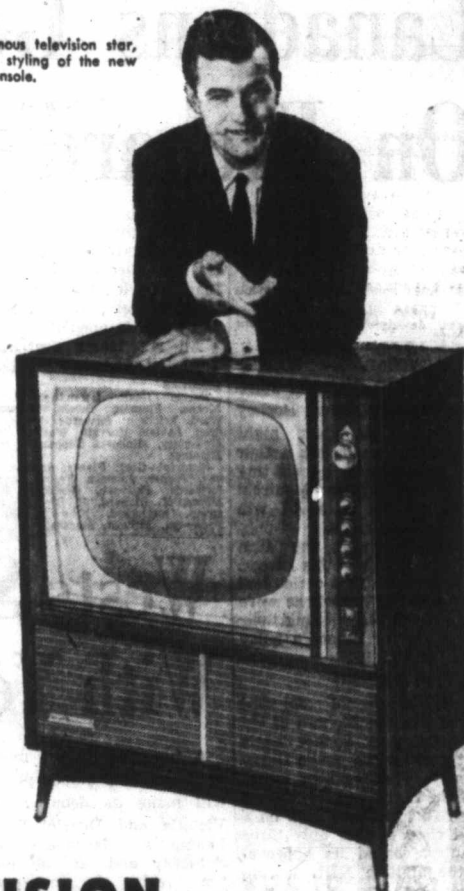

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky unsightly fat right in your own home. Use this recipe plan yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full twice a day and follow the Naran plan. If your first purchase does not show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloated disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Canadiens Get Start On Richard's 526th

Montreal, shooting for a fifth straight Stanley Cup and fourth straight league title, is now tied with Chicago Black Hawks, who beat New York Rangers, 5-2, in Wednesday's league opener.

All six teams see action Saturday.

MONTREAL — Maurice (The Rocket) Richard, starting his 19th National Hockey League season, last night showed he hasn't lost a flair for the dramatic by starting defending-champion Montreal Canadiens off to a 4-1 win over Boston Bruins.

Richard scored the first goal, the 526th of his career, at 14:16 of the first period and after that the Canadiens were never headed in winning their season opener before a noisy crowd of 13,619.

HE WAS FLYING

The 38-year-old forward looked like the Richard of old by blasting a 25-foot angle shot past Boston goalie Harry Lumley. The partisan crowd that had groaned in unison when Richard shot high on a good chance after only three minutes, roared its approval to the all-time NHL scoring leader.

Other Montreal goals came from Andre Pronovost, with two, and sophomore Ab McDonald. All were scored in the second period.

Boston, runner-up to Montreal for the league title last year, could power-play only a second-period power-play goal by Bronco Horvath.

GOALIES GOOD

Acrobatic goalie Jacques Plante appeared in mid-season form while handling 20 of the 21 shots fired at the Canadiens' net. Lumley had a busier time of it at the other end as the powerful Montreal club poured 35 shots at him.

Manitobans a Bit Confused

Over Sunday Sport Pattern

WINNIPEG (CP)—Doors of the Winnipeg arena will open Sunday to cash customers for a professional hockey game, but across the street the Winnipeg Stadium will be closed because of a ban on Sunday amateur football games to which admission is charged.

The situation results from a court ruling that made some sports legal on Sunday while others remain illegal.

While the position of professional hockey on Sunday remains uncertain, the Winnipeg Warriors of the Western Hockey League have for the first time scheduled Sunday games in the coming season. The first of the eight games is set for this Sunday.

Sunday amusements for which admission is charged are restricted by the Lord's Day Act, a federal statute, but provincial governments have the authority to permit municipal governments to make exceptions.

The Manitoba government approved amendments to the Winnipeg charter allowing normal operation of skating rinks and city-operated swimming pools and golf courses on Sunday. Admission is charged.

In October, 1958, Winnipeg

Magistrate M.H. Garton ruled on a test case that it is legal to charge admission to junior hockey games played on Sunday. He said normal operation of skating rinks includes such hockey games.

However, when Winnipeg Goldies of the Class C Northern Baseball League played a Sunday doubleheader to wind up the 1959 season and charged admission, police took names of Winnipeg Stadium employees and Attorney-General Sterling Lyon warned the baseball club that any further Sunday games would result in prosecution.

West's Start Over With Youthful XI

A team comprised mostly of former city junior players will make its debut in the Victoria and District Soccer League at Macdonald Park Saturday and, at the same time, revive the once-proud name of Victoria West.

Coach Harry Youson will field what must be the youngest side ever to compete in a Victoria senior league. The nucleus of Victoria West were members of last year's Optimists club, finalists in the B.C. junior competition.

BIT OF GLUE

Only outsiders are veterans Allan Matthews, John Cratney and Dick Greely, all of whom will add vital experience to the young club.

Providing the opposition for Victoria West Saturday will be Navy, another new entry in the league this season.

Appearing with Victoria

West will be goalie Barry Sadler and fullback Jim Hawthorn. Both were named to the B.C. all-star team at last year's junior and juvenile tournament.

Youson's crew has played one game this season, losing a 3-2 decision to Kickers in the McGavin Cup playdowns.

When one considers that Kickers appear to be the team to beat this season, it seems that Youson and his Victoria West club will more than hold their own.

League play continues Sunday with five more games. Thistles meet Honey's at Reynolds Road Park; Evocals play Gorge Hotel at Heywood Avenue Park; Brodies travel to Ladysmith and Kickers host Canadian Scottish at Central Park in the feature game.

All weekend games begin at 2:00 p.m.

Meanwhile, stock car racing for admission already was under way in the Winnipeg area on Sundays. Football games of the Manitoba-Saskatchewan Junior League were being played on Sunday for admission for the second season.

Both the football league and Winnipeg Enterprises Corporation, which operates the Winnipeg Arena for football and hockey, are warned by the attorney-general that further Sunday football games for admission would result in charges being laid.

The corporation then said it would not risk prosecution by allowing further Sunday football games. However, it still will be the landlord for Sunday junior hockey games across the street in the arena and there has been no word that it will rule against Sunday professional hockey.

Latest move in the situation came at a session of the Winnipeg city council, where Alderman Slav Rebohyk gave formal notice of motion asking for a charter amendment to authorize commercial sport and entertainment on Sunday.

Feature of three Saturday matches in the Victoria Rugby Union will be played at Windsor Park, where James Bay and Oak Bay Reds resume a rivalry that carries over from last season's rugged playoff.

There was considerable ill-feeling in the two-game total-point playoff. Oak Bay won out by scores of 30 and 60 but eventually lost out to Vancouver Kats in the B.C. final.

Saturday's other two games will be played between Royal Roads and Ventures at Royal Roads and Victoria College

Sherry Writes Series History With Amazing Tale of Success

CHICAGO — A good-looking, confident youngster came up with one of the greatest pitching feats in world series history and Los Angeles Dodgers won the 1959 title going away.

That's the story of this year's series — the Larry Sherry story — stencilled in the record books to stay after the boyish rookie yesterday stopped Chicago White Sox in a 9-3 shambles that gave the Dodgers the crown, four games to two.

Homer-hitting Charlie Neal and Gil Hodges and clutch pinch-hitter Carl Furillo were heroes, too, and everybody else helped as the Dodgers became the first club in history to finish seventh one year, then take the series the next.

The White Sox, trying to wipe out 40 years of infamy with their first pennant since the "Black Sox" scandal of 1919, chipped in by making most of the mistakes, missing in the clutch and failing to live up to their good-field, good-run reputation.

Sherry's series score — 10 hits in 12 1/2 innings of the series, he gave up one run and seven hits.

In 11 days, he was called in to relieve five times, once against Milwaukee, four times against Chicago. He won three, including the first Milwaukee playoff game, and saved the other two. In 20 1/2 innings, he allowed one run and 11 hits.

Sherry's series score — 10 hits in 12 1/2 innings of the series, he gave up one run and seven hits. In the first game, three innings and a save in the second, two innings and a save in the third, two innings and a win in the fourth, he led in the fifth, five and two-thirds innings and a win yesterday.

FAN FARE

By Walt Ditzgen

Dodger Hero Regrets Starting Chance Lost

CHICAGO — On top of the world? No sir, not Larry Sherry.

The handsome rookie who, it might be said, almost won the world series for Los Angeles Dodgers all by himself, shouted over the din of the victors' dressing room that "I'm not so happy."

This astounding statement was explained thusly: "Alston promised me I'd start Friday if the series went the limit and I was really looking forward to it. You see, I'm not a relief man, I'm a starter and I hope Alston starts me next year."

"Yes, sir, I don't mind relieving toward the end of the season if it's absolutely necessary but I'd rather be a starter any day."

SUMS IT UP

Sherry, whose monumental year-end feat included three wins and two saves in five playoff and series games, delivered himself of these other dispatches: "No, I wasn't tired. The fact that Alston called me in early didn't bother me. In fact, I told (pitching coach) Joe Becker I felt I could go five or six innings."

"The only thing in my mind was to get the batters out and I had good luck. I made them hit pitches I wanted them to hit. My fast ball was my best today."

"I never get riled out there. I think my toughest spot in the series came in the eighth inning of the second game when they got three hits in a row off me. But I got out of it and all my confidence returned and it stuck with me all the way."

Finally, in his slow and easy, thoughtful and distinct way, the unconcerned Sherry said: "I think I worked harder in this last game than any of the others. I had to put more effort into it. I got away with fewer pitches the other times."

THE RIGHT WORDS

Beaming Walt Alston, who led Brooklyn to the other Dodger title over the Yanks in 1955, said this victory was a bigger one because it was "a better team effort."

"This was the hardest-working team I've ever had," said Walt. "I can't single out any player as the key but I'll say I've never seen a kid so young, so good as Larry Sherry."

"We beat the Sox at their own game," shrieked coach Charlie Dressen, tossed out in the fourth for arguing over a called strike. "We outran them and Lord knows we sure out-hit them."

CONVERSATION PIECE

The Sox, in their murky headquarters, couldn't talk about much else than Sherry — "the big difference" in manager Al Lopez's words.

"He just stopped us every time we thought we could get going in the whole series," said Lopez. "It was just one of those things today — they hit our best pitchers, and hard. We had our chances in the series but just couldn't make it."

Early Wynn, first-game winner and last-game loser, was pitching at 39 with only two days' rest and showed it, needing 64 pitches for the first three innings.

Before the game he had said his right elbow "ached a little but there's no tomorrow if I don't win today, so you just overlook little things like aches and pains."

Afterward, he said: "I made some bad pitches. I thought Moon was going to steal in the third and I was careless with Snider. It was a fast ball, a bit outside, that he hit out of the park."

Lopez summed it up simply: "We had no excuses."

Gate Receipts the Feature Of Usual Quota of Records

CHICAGO — World series records may be overdone, such as most successful seventh-inning sacrifice hits by substitute second-basemen, but some chalked up yesterday were good ones.

The 47,653 fans who jammed Comiskey Park set a series attendance mark of 420,784 and the $2,626,973 paid to get into the six games was another record.

Each Dodger will get about $11,000, each White Sox about $7,300 and those will be new marks or close to them. Duke Snider's homer yesterday gave him 11 homers and 26 runs batted in for world series play, both National League records, and Ted Kluszewski tied the single series total of 10 RBIs with his three-run blast.

"I'm really happy about this," said Big Klu, "especially since all this came after I thought I was finished."

And, in a new high for utility, no pitcher went the distance for the first time in 56 world series.

Early arrivals yesterday were treated to an unscheduled infield show by plump Antoinette Green, who jumped out of the right-field stands to slide into second and third bases, then roll delightedly in loose infield dirt for a few minutes.

Finally, three policemen took her away.

Duke Snider's persuasiveness played a big part in the final win. The veteran outfielder pleaded with manager Walt Alston to be allowed to play, then contributed a two-run homer and a fine running catch which ended a White Sox threat.

After Early Wynn came home Wednesday from Los Angeles, he opened his Comiskey Park locker to find a telegram of congratulations on his first-game victory.

It had been sent last weekend by Wynn's old friend, tenor Mario Lanza, who died Wednesday morning.

The Dodgers are a real comeback club. Shutout in their only two losses, they scored 21 runs in winning four, and 20 of them came after two were out. The other was Gil Hodges' none-out homer, which won the fourth game.

Even in the ninth, the White Sox band was busily tooting "Look for the Silver Lining."

Norm Boden, assistant greenskeeper at Gorge Vale golf club and former city amateur champ, scored a 74 Thursday to win the Harry Young trophy for medal play in the Victoria greenskeepers' 25th annual tournament, played at Uplands.

Another Gorge Vale golfer, Fred Painter, was runner-up and won the J. A. Seward handicap trophy. Les Barnes of Cedar Hill was second in the latter event, with D. Richards of Colwood third at the 19th.

Visitors' prize was won by W. Luney of Uplands and Gorge Vale won the interclub shield for three-man teams. Full results:

Last Year's Finalists Resume Rugby Rivalry

Feature of three Saturday matches in the Victoria Rugby Union will be played at Windsor Park, where James Bay and Oak Bay Reds resume a rivalry that carries over from last season's rugged playoff.

There was considerable ill-feeling in the two-game total-point playoff. Oak Bay won out by scores of 30 and 60 but eventually lost out to Vancouver Kats in the B.C. final.

Saturday's other two games will be played between Royal Roads and Ventures at Royal Roads and Victoria College

Clark Joins Jockeys As Total Reaches 40

Pete Clark, who has been riding like one since the start, became a jockey yesterday at Sandown Park.

The 17-year-old Californian opened and finished yesterday's racing card with victories. They were the 39th and 40th of his riding career and he has lost the advantage of the five-pound allowance given horses ridden by apprentice riders.

Island, who was disqualified earlier in the meet and placed last when the regular urine test disclosed the presence of a drug.

Clark, who has been weighing in at 113 pounds for the past few days, makes his first start as a full-fledged jockey this afternoon aboard Queen's Stadium in the first race.

CAUGHT 'EM NAPPING

There were more than a few fans kicking themselves yesterday after the first race, in which Clark broke on top with Dark Perfume and pulled steadily away from the field of maidens to win by six lengths.

There had been a rush to support Shonee T, who lurched along 16 lengths back of the pace, and the win price of $8 on Dark Perfume was exceptional for a Clark winner.

From there, however, bettors took few chances and in four of the next five races, Clark was saddled with the mutual favorite, at least twice a bit unreasonably. And for the first time in the meet, Clark rode four successive races without once being in the first three.

First Tenor, who didn't deserve the favorite's role in the second race, finished fourth. It was fourth again in the third aboard Trudy Trig, who figured to be closer than she was, Stolen Love was the second choice in the fourth, finished fifth.

Unpredictable Looks Better, made an odds-on choice, never looked worse than he did in the fifth race, trailing the field all the way to wind up beaten 11 lengths.

But bettors stuck with Clark, even to the extent of allowing Pro Tick, who looked about as certain as anything can in racing, to go to the post at 5-2 odds in the sixth race as they made game little Loretta's Babe the favorite.

She finished second and Clark was still looking for No. 40. He didn't have much longer to look, winning as expected aboard Beau Sierra, who made it three for three at Sandown, in the last race.

It was, however, a bad day for favorites. Only My Guidepost, in the fourth, and Beau Sierra finished as favorites should. But Sandown bettors have been paying as much attention, perhaps more, to the riders as to the horses and often setting up false favorites. It was a miserable day, for racing, and for anything else, too. The track was not quite sloppy, not quite muddy and a brisk, and cold, wind blew most of the day.

11 TO 1 SHOT

Best price of the day—$23.90 to win—was paid by Trap Shooter, who ran a fairish race against Bro. Charles on Wednesday and came right back with a better one to catch Little Selfish and win the fifth handily.

Maybe Tish, with a long record of fading in the stretch, also found conditions to her liking and never looked back in the third for a $19.80 win price. And Chief Remih, who had won once and shown twice in his last three starts, was a bit overlooked in the second to become a 9-2 winner when the camera gave him a slight edge over the charging Bob's Finale.

Dr. Briley decided something had to be done before the school took on the look of a battle clearing station.

He conferred with the school's doctors. It was decided to ban soccer on the 25 fields until rain softens them up.

The move is without precedent in the 520-year-old history of the fashionable school, made famous by the Duke of Wellington's comment that the Battle of Waterloo "was won on the playing fields of Eton."

Remember When:

George Hainsworth, one of the great goalies in hockey history, was killed in a car accident near Vancouver, B.C., 11 years ago today. A 35-year-old Kitchener alderman, he had retired from hockey at age 14 after 14 seasons. He won the Victoria trophy three seasons in a row ending in 1928 while with Montreal, and in that season he had 33 shutouts in 44 games.

... holdout?

Unsigned Leftwingers Only Cougar Problem

Centre Gordie Wilson re-joined Victoria Cougars yesterday, apparently to stay, but manager-coach Hal Laycoe ran smack into another problem new to him. He has two holdouts and is at a loss about what to do next.

Still unsigned last night with the Western Hockey League opener at Vancouver less than 24 hours away were two wingers on whom Laycoe had been counting heavily for this season—Arlo Goodwin and Gordie Fashway.

Both, Laycoe said, have been offered increases. "I've gone as far as I can go," Laycoe stated, "I don't know what to do next. If they don't sign I'll have to suspend them but that's something I'd sooner not do."

Laycoe and Fashway, it is thought, aren't too far apart and there appears to be a good chance that the big left-winger, who holds the all-time WHL record for goals scored, will sign before the club leaves for Vancouver this morning.

Goodwin and Laycoe, however, are reported far apart and it seemed last night as if there was little chance that they might get together in time for tonight's game, or at all.

"If they don't sign this morning it will be the first time I've ever had a holdout," Laycoe said.

He is in his fourth season as manager-coach, having served for three years at New Westminster before shifting to Victoria this season.

Laycoe does not minimize the fact that the loss of either Fashway or Goodwin would hurt the Cougars considerably and that the loss of both would be serious.

"They're both fine players," he said, "and we need them both but there isn't anything more I can do."

It is believed that part of the difficulty in signing the two wingers stems from the fact that both would prefer to play their hockey elsewhere—Fashway on the Mainland so he could live at home and Goodwin closer to Saskatoon. However, there appears no chance that either player will be traded or sold.

POSSIBILITIES
If both are unsigned by game time tonight, Laycoe will probably give Carl Kaiser a chance at one leftwing spot and Charlie Goodwin at the other. Or he may play Wilson and shift Gordie Haworth to a wing spot.

Laycoe is a bit loathe to use Wilson in early games. The tall centre worked out yesterday morning but is at least a week behind in conditioning.

Also on the bright side yesterday was the report that both Jack Bionda, who had to take it easy while a touchy ankle healed, and Pete Wright, set back by a bad cold, will likely be at their regular defence positions tonight.

In any event, the Cougars will show up at Vancouver Forum and they'll be back for their home opener tomorrow night, with the power-packed Canucks again the opposition.

35 Boys Hurt

Eton Postpones Soccer Games

LONDON (AP)—Dr. Robert Briley, headmaster of famous Eton College, looked over a mounting casualty list of broken bones Wednesday and decided soccer wasn't worth it.

In the last two weeks 35 boys have suffered fractured collar bones and broken legs and arms on playing grounds baked hard by weeks of sun and drought.

Dr. Briley decided something had to be done before the school took on the look of a battle clearing station. He conferred with the school's doctors. It was decided to ban soccer on the 25 fields until rain softens them up.

Latest Lion to Roar, Quilter Fined $1,000

Chuck Quilter, six-year tackle with B.C. Lions, has been fined $1,000 and suspended for deciding to retire, because of a knee injury, without consulting the team's medical officials.

Quilter, 31, from Tyler, Texas, started in Canada with Edmonton, joined Lions in 1954 and since has become a Canadian citizen.

He had quarreled with coach Wayne Robinson in training camp when he decided to retire, was suspended Wednesday for missing a practice and was fined yesterday. Robinson says he doesn't want Quilter back, so Chuck becomes the second first-string tackle to leave in a week. Curt Lauke, having been sold to Montreal after quitting in a huff six days ago.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING STIMULATES BUYING

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

There's nothing like a new car—and no new car like a Chevrolet. This is the elegant Impala 2-Door Sport Coupe!

SEE IT NOW AND SEE ALL THESE new and different things IN THE 1960 Chevy!

completely !!NEW!! completely FRESH STYLE

One look tells you this new Chevy's a beautiful eye-fall—from the new full-width grille to the shallow "V" of its unique rear deck. Chevy's Slimline contours cut a fresh clean swath in the field of design. In every important styling detail, it stands apart from the crop.

!new! easy loading luggage compartment

New convenience has been built into Chevy's extra-roomy luggage compartment by lowering the loading height. You'll find space for a vacation-size luggage load under that sleek rear deck.

NEW spaciousness inside

Inside the Body by Fisher you'll find room and more room. There's room to sprawl in, room to sit tall.

in—and the roof-line has a respect for hats. A new flatter transmission tunnel is a boon to the "middle man". Here is the kind of space that invites the family.

THRIFTIER !!new!!! VS POWER

Under the hood thrift is accented in a new standard V8, engineered to deliver up to 10% more miles for every gallon while giving you more zest at normal speeds. Or you might choose its strapping teammate—Chevy's Hi-Thrift 6—the engine that starts saving the moment you flip the ignition switch. Its precision carburetion and automatic choke will show you new heights in performance and new lows in cost.

NEW QUIET AND COMFORT

Thicker, newly designed body mounts insulate you from road shock and noise, insuring an almost cocoon-like quiet. Full Coil spring suspension melts bumps as no other suspension system can. Oil-hushed hydraulic valve lifters reduce engine noise to a whisper, adding still more to your sense of well-being as you cruise along in the 1960 Chevy.

!NEW! refinements for the driver

Everybody will want to be the driver when he sees the kind of pleasure a turn at the wheel brings. The driver finds Chevy has further cushioned him from engine impulses by an improved clutch linkage system. He'll also find that superior weight distribution lends stability in handling and stopping.

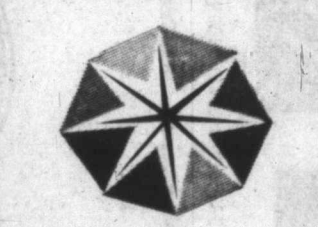

There's a new parking brake. When you press down the brake pedal, the T-handle below the instrument panel pops out to indicate "brake is on". And Chevy offers a choice of 24 engine-transmission hookups to meet the requirements of the most discriminating driver.

DRAMATIC new colors !!!new!!! TWO-TONE STYLING

Choosy about color? You can afford to be. Chevy for '60 provides a palette full of hues, both solid and two tones. If you don't see the color or combination of colors you want on the showroom floor, you'll be sure to find it quickly in a handy color chart. There's a trim new two-toning motif available in all 16 coin-bright models of the superlative 1960 Chevrolet.

Magic-Mirror finishes will keep the color tones you choose looking like new for years to come. Interiors also offer new, 1960-new, color styles. The inside styling changes extend to luxurious new upholstery materials and—in some models—a bright metal instrument panel facing. The big surprise is still ahead of you—when you spot the low price all this elegance and quality sells for!

Tonight I'll sit by a fireplace,
In a warm and cozy home...
Count my many blessings
And set my thoughts to roam.
I'll think of Charlie Thompson,
I saw him just today...
But Charlie didn't see me
As he White-Caned on his way.
I'll think of little children,
Who need some love and care...
And wonder what can happen
When Mom and Dad aren't there.
I'll think of Granny Miller,
The lonely life she leads...
The little but the vital things
That would ease her list of needs.
I'll think of many others,
Some old, some young, some maimed.
People whom I've never met
But know misfortune claimed.
These will fill by thoughts tonight,
I won't be wondering "whether"...
When neighbor Don knocks on my door
Proudly wearing a Red Feather.

NEIL McELROY ... Australia to space
CAROLE TREGOFF ... bad news

Names in the News

Hawrelak Faces Legal Action

EDMONTON—The city of Edmonton will take legal action to recover profits allegedly made by former mayor William Hawrelak, Dr. William Shandro, a brother-in-law, and Dominion Stores on land deals investigated by the Porter royal commission.

City council passed a resolution authorizing commissioners to hire lawyer William McGillivray of Calgary to "commence and continue legal proceedings to the end that... Edmonton make recovery of sums that in the opinion of a special legal council obtained by the city are due and owing from certain land sales profits realized."

Earlier Thursday, Paul Shandro, another brother-in-law of Hawrelak, was arrested and charged with perjury in connection with the judicial inquiry conducted by Mr. Justice M. M. Porter.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — Evangelist Billy Graham says Nikita Khrushchev will go to Hell.

CANBERRA, Australia — American Defence Secretary Neil McElroy says the United States might some day want to launch a space rocket from here.

LOS ANGELES — Carole Tregoff, accused with her doctor-sweetheart of murdering his wife, broke into tears in court when she heard that she and Dr. Bernard Finch had been indicted by a grand jury on murder charges.

NEW YORK — A frustrated rapist beat up Mrs. Ella Koch, 24, mother of two, and threw her into a blazing furnace. She managed to escape but was in critical condition with third-degree burns.

OTTAWA — Governor General Vanier accepted an invitation by the Canadian general council of the Boy Scouts Association to become chief scout of Canada.

OTTAWA — Immigration Minister Ellen Fairclough announced that all persons running afoul of Canada's immigration laws will be able to

Socreds Re-Elect Smalley
Carey W. Smalley was re-elected president of the Saanich Social Credit constituency at last night's annual nominating convention.

Mr. Smalley was returned by acclamation of the 29 voting delegates who turned out at the Women's Institute Hall. All but one of the five officials who took office were unopposed.

Lewis Harvey was named first vice-president, Ken Jennings, second vice-president, and Peter Brown, third vice-president. Mrs. D. A. Studley, defeated by Mr. Brown in the only office decided by vote, was then named fourth vice-president by acclamation.

Noel A. Murphy, president of the B.C. Social Credit League, was unable to speak to the meeting as scheduled. Mr. Murphy's brother is critically ill in Vancouver.

Desperadoes Seized With High School Girls

APALACHICOLA, Fla. (AP)

Three young California desperadoes were seized Thursday after leaving a nearby motel where they were staying with three teen-aged Montana high school girls.

The Helena, Mont., girls disappeared last Friday after leaving high school and getting into the men's rose-pink 1959 sedan. The men wore fancy cowboy clothes.

Sheriff Herbert Marshall said the men, described by a Montana sheriff as "armed, desperate and dangerous—as bad as they come," surrendered meekly when they were apprehended near this small fishing community on the northwest Florida coast.

They had two rifles, a shotgun, plenty of ammunition and five sticks of dynamite in their car, the sheriff said.

The men and the girls were placed in custody of the FBI. The girls admitted they had accompanied the men willingly.

More than 500 rivers empty into Lake Superior, the largest of the five Great Lakes.

Parents to Blame Says Jersey Joe

MONTREAL (CP)—Jersey Joe Walcott, former heavy-weight boxing champion of the world and now a policeman dealing especially in juvenile cases, said Tuesday parents are to blame in every case of juvenile delinquency.

"I have studied hundreds of cases during the last six years," said Walcott, who is on the police force of Camden, N.J., "and in every instance I found the parents to be either directly or indirectly to blame for the misdeeds of their kids."

In an interview Walcott, father of six, said that in every case of trouble parents try to put the blame on something or someone else.

Canadian Craft to Fly Soon

Flying Saucer Ready

By VAL SEARS
(Special to The Colonist)

TORONTO — Waiting in a hangar, on the outskirts of Toronto under security wraps, is one of the most revolutionary flying vehicles designed anywhere in the world — the Avrocar flying saucer.

Built for the United States Army by Avro Aircraft of Canada, it may do what the flying saucers from outer space are supposed to do.

During the next few weeks the vehicle will be given its first public trial.

engine in the centre, cockpit forward, and exhausts gases for lift and forward flight. It is rated at 2,000 horsepower and reportedly will hover, then soar away at speeds anywhere from 100 to 300 miles an hour to as high as two miles.

The Avrocar employs a novel centrifugal system that

The U.S. Army Transportation Research and Engineering Command has specified that the vehicle should be built to accommodate recoilless rifle, rockets or other weapons so that it can be used as an aerial ground-firing platform.

Another use for such an aerial platform is for electronics station and for extending the range of line-of-sight transmissions.

The saucer will be able to skim close to the ground, dart between trees, dip into small valleys and generally hug the earth's surface, thus confounding enemy radar.

If Curfew Is Now Enforced—Blame a Parking Ticket

If Victoria's curfew bylaw is now enforced, a parking ticket will have something to do with it.

City council yesterday asked the police commission to direct the police chief to enforce the bylaw to the best of the department's ability.

The parking ticket may not have influenced council much in its decision, but it came up as a sort of last word in debate.

"Do we have to instruct the police to enforce all the by-laws?" asked Ald. M. H. Mooney.

"Well, the police chief has troubles, with the amount of staff he has," said Mayor

Percy Scurrell, police commission chairman. "Saturday, there wasn't a car on View for miles, and I get a ticket!" said Ald. Mooney. "If they can do that, they're not so busy they can't enforce the laws on the books."

And council, laughing, approved the request.

Council also voted to ask the Greater Victoria Inter-municipal committee to consider the advisability of having a uniform curfew law for the whole area.

Ald. Elmer McEwen was first to call for enforcement of the bylaw, which prohibits children under 16 from being on the streets after 9.30 unless accompanied by a responsible adult or there through an "unavoidable cause."

"It seems to me a sort of a farce if we are not prepared to ask the police to do their best to see that youngsters go off the streets, and if they are caught again, to inform their parents, and if necessary prosecute," agreed Ald. Geoffrey Edgell.

"The police should never, never say they can't enforce a law because it's going to cost money," said Ald. Mooney.

Ald. Proudfoot suggested a lower age-limit: many youngsters studied at the library in the evening, he said, or had other good reason to be out.

He also suggested the law was unworkable if only Victoria city had it.

Ald. Hugh Ramsay said the law naturally would be used with discretion.

He favored enforcing it, but said "the fines provided, $1 or $2, are ridiculously low and should be increased to have some effect on parents."

'Winter on the Island' Message to Prairies

Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau has embarked on an intensive $3,000 advertising campaign to bring prairie residents to Vancouver Island for winter vacations.

George I. Warren, Victoria tourist commissioner, returned from Alberta this week after laying groundwork for the winter-vacation promotion.

He said newspaper advertising is being used in Calgary, Edmonton, Regina, Saskatoon and Winnipeg to get the program started.

Both national railways are supporting the scheme, he continued, by offering sharply reduced return fares allowing a 60-day stay-over on the coast.

Mr. Warren said many

Prairie residents have been taking winter vacations in the southern United States for years, but that a Vancouver Island vacation should be just as attractive as far as winter climate is concerned, and more attractive financially.

New Ferries Will Make 80 Jobs

When the provincially-owned ferries start operation in April or May between Sidney and Tsawwassen there will be 80 "lunch-bucket" jobs opened for seamen here.

There will be two eight-hour shifts on both the ferries and it is anticipated that crew members will get home every night.

Huge Canvass

Chest Agents Needed

Twenty or more canvassers are needed by Community Chest officials to fill their roster for the biggest house-to-house canvass in Greater Victoria history.

Mrs. Daryl Elford, in charge of the Chest residential canvass Oct. 14-17, yesterday reported a shortage of canvassers in certain areas, and sent out an urgent request for volunteers.

NOT COVERED

Three areas are still not covered in the canvassing plan. They are the Ten Mile Point district; the area bordered by Quadra, Clovelly and Tolmie Streets; and Cook Street between Tolmie and Hillside Avenue.

Volunteers are asked to phone Mrs. Elford at EV 3-5079, or the Community Chest office, EV 5-6708.

FOUR IN

Meanwhile, returns continue to pour in to Chest headquarters at a higher rate than in last year's campaign.

Total receipts to 4 p.m. yesterday were $76,155. Thanks to a partial return of $861.40 from the city of Victoria municipal workers, the third light on the Red Feather progress chart, indicating $75,000 plus, was lit yesterday afternoon.

Officials hope to break the $100,000 mark today.

Library Closed Thanksgiving Day

Something 'Definitely' in Air On City's Mall-Parking Plan

Something "definitely" is going to be done about the city's downtown improvement and off-street parking plan, now in abeyance, Mayor Percy Scurrell said yesterday.

But he told Ald. Elmer McEwen he wasn't prepared to say "at the moment" what he had in mind.

Ald. McEwen had remarked that the year was slipping by and nothing appeared to be happening.

Council yesterday received 48 form letters supporting the downtown improvement plan, out of 400 reported to have been sent out for signature by the Capital Region Branch of the Community Planning Association of Canada.

"More than 10 per cent, that's very good," said Ald. Geoffrey Edgell. "And none against."

Warren Won't Talk Of Job to Fisher

Victoria publicity chief, George I. Warren had no comment yesterday on reports that his job has been offered to John Fisher, a former CBC travel commentator.

A Vancouver newspaper reported recently that Mr. Fisher, now executive director of the Canadian Tourist Association, has been offered $17,000 a year to come to Victoria, or some $17,000 a year more than the publicity bureau paid its entire staff in 1958.

Asked yesterday on his return to Victoria from a tourist promotion trip to Alberta whether he planned to retire from his job as head of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau to make way for Mr.

Fisher, Mr. Warren said "I have nothing to say at this time."

Last spring, when rumors of the Fisher offer were first heard Mr. Warren said he had no intention of retiring.

Mr. Fisher recently confirmed that he has been offered the Victoria publicity post and is reported as saying "I have made no decision, but I always give consideration to anything that's interesting."

Victoria delegates to a Pen-tinction tourist convention at which Fisher confirmed the offer were Mayor Percy Scurrell, former chamber of commerce Conway Parrott, publicity bureau president Ian Ross and Mr. Warren.

City council jumped into the controversy over the site for Victoria's university yesterday, and after a sharp exchange of opinions, jumped back out again.

The aldermen voted in the end to ask Victoria College authorities how city council can help in establishment of a university, and also to ask which site will be used, and why.

Left in the air was a suggestion by Ald. Elmer McEwen that Greater Victoria voters be asked to approve, in the December elections, municipal contributions of one or two dollars per capita annually for four or five years to a university-building fund.

"EMPIRE-BUILDING" If the Greater Victoria municipalities gave leadership in raising funds this way, Ald. McEwen said, the "empire-building" at University of B.C. could be stopped and a real university started in Victoria. Ald. Geoffrey Edgell opposed "saddling the taxpayer" with university costs; the money should be raised in a campaign covering the whole of Vancouver Island and even other parts of the province, he maintained.

The question of site was raised by Ald. M. H. Mooney. The college authorities, he said, ought to give their reasons for not wanting to build the university on the Gordon Head site and ought to let council know what was in the report from a firm of Montreal consultants.

"I think we should back the new site," he said. "I don't think if they go ahead on the same site they'll get half the support they otherwise would."

TO HIS FEET

His remarks brought Ald. Edgell back to his feet. The college had its professional advisers, he said; there was an "excellent nucleus of buildings on the present site," and starting afresh at Gordon Head would mean spending millions.

The present site might be suitable for the time being, Ald. Mooney replied, but he thought it was a "known fact" that it wasn't suitable for the future. He wanted council to inform the college authorities that it backed the Gordon Head site.

Ald. Edgell moved an amendment, just to ask what city council could do to help.

Ald. Arthur Dowell moved an amendment to the amendment.

He proposed that "council go on record as taking no part in this discussion at the present time."

But his motion was ruled out of order by the mayor.

B.C. Agency May Control Pension Plans

A central government agency with control over pension plans operated by private firms is expected to be recommended by Victoria Societies at the provincial Social Credit convention in Vancouver Oct. 30 and 31.

A spokesman said there have been cases of employees who served a firm for 20 years only to be dismissed just before becoming eligible for pension benefits.

Another Victoria resolution will press for a new province-wide plebiscite on daylight saving time.

Guzzwell Tells Story

Globe-Girdler Started at 'Y'

John Guzzwell's 20½-foot round-the-world yawl Trekka was born not behind a city fish and chip shop as is popularly supposed, but in the basement of the YMCA building at 1203 Blanshard.

Skipper Guzzwell told a warmly responsive audience of 600 here last night that the boiler room of the "Y" building was the only place he could find where the temperature was high enough to ensure good bonding of Trekka's glued and laminated keel.

BUILT AROUND IT

After the glue had cured the keel was moved to the rear of the fish and chip store and Trekka was built around it.

Last night was Guzzwell's first public address since his return from the historic 33,000-mile cruise which set an all-time record for small boat sailing, and he handled the occasion like a veteran.

AROUND CAPE

Trekka's skipper took his audience from Victoria to San Francisco, Honolulu, British Samoa, New Zealand, Australia, round the Cape of Good Hope to Durban, to Barbados, through Panama and back to Victoria via Honolulu.

He recounted his gradual development of a system of handling the light-displacement yawl from the early days when he was constantly at the tiller to a point where he once spent a mere four hours steering in a period of two weeks.

FOR SIX DAYS

And he told how he was hoisted for six days in a wild storm off the Australian coast and listened to radio reports which said he and his stout ship were presumed at the bottom of the Tasman Sea.

His address was punctuated by laughter as he told of the prelude to his passage through the Panama Canal when he was introduced to a senior canal official as "Captain Guzzwell of the Trekka."

DIDN'T KNOW

The official asked him the tonnage of his "ship" and when Guzzwell said he didn't know the official said he would telephone another canal office and find out for him.

"I heard him ask the Trekka's tonnage, then I heard him say 'three, three what?'" "Three hundred, three thousand?" "And finally, just 'Oh!'" "Turning to Trekka's 'captain' he said: 'You don't have a very big ship, do you?" "Why at 72 cents a ton that's only $2.16." Guzzwell will conclude his two-lecture series on behalf of Y's Men's Club charities at Central Junior High School tonight at 8 o'clock.

Victoria and Island

Lots of Cash Needed For Tourist Facilities

Victoria and Vancouver Island need liberal amounts of investment capital for development of recreational facilities, Chamber of Commerce tourist trade group chairman Sam Lane said yesterday.

He said the tourist group will probably ask the chamber to mount an all-out drive to attract such capital here.

Mr. Lane envisions, among other things, a large downtown marina for Victoria, a permanent amusement park in the city and major resort hotels on Vancouver Island and some of the gulf islands.

He said Vancouver Island and the gulf islands represent "the greatest undeveloped tourist potential in Canada."

"There is no reason why this area can't develop a billion-dollar-a-year tourist industry if we go after it," Mr. Lane added.

City Girl To Star

As Far as Montreal

Death of Halloween Strikes Warm Chord

When Chief Constable W. A. Pearson of Saanich said recently he favored abolition of Halloween because it had become simply an excuse for vandalism, he struck a responsive chord as far away as Montreal.

Wire services picked up his comments, and yesterday he received a clipping from the Montreal Star, with a note attached;

"Chief Pearson: 'We here agree with you. Not one child in a hundred knows the meaning of Halloween these days, and children are only too quick to seize any opportunity; they do not need Halloween. It is not a holiday, no one would miss its absence.'"

The note was signed by Mrs. E. Howies of Pointe Claire, a Montreal suburb.

Neighbors Married

Neighbors who were married recently at Metropolitan Church are Mr. and Mrs. Harold McHugh. The bride, formerly Sheila Rabey, is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rabey of 428 Durban Street. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Frank McHugh of 433 Durban Street. — (Photo by Hy-Fidelity.)

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann: I've been dating Rita four months. I'm 20, she's 18. We're both through with school and working.

The other night at the bowling alley we ran into a bunch of guys I work with. One fellow said: "Let's have a little contest. We'll bowl three games and high man gets Rita."

I thought he was kidding. When Rita piped up, "Sounds like a great idea," I was shocked.

A smooth character bowled the best game of his life and won. When he and Rita went off together I felt like a big sap. The other fellows hawed for an hour.

I haven't called Rita in a week. She knows I'm sore. Should I patch things up and explain she was wrong, or find another girl?—Bernie.

Dear Bernie: Find another girl—one who places a higher value on her company. A young lady who puts herself in the same category as a kewpie doll in a carnival booth deserves neither your time nor your consideration.

Never Sent a Card

Dear Ann: My husband's godchild was 13 in June. We have never failed to give Jean a birthday gift and a Christmas present. Never has she sent a card or made a phone call to acknowledge a gift.

When we see Jean, her mother gives her a nudge, and she blurts out, "Gee, thanks for the present I got a few months ago."

My husband says she's too young for polished social graces. I say she's old enough to drop a line or pick up a telephone. What do YOU say, Ann Landers?—Chicagoan.

Dear Chicagoan: I say the girl's mother is nudging her much too late. If you want to do Jean a favor, sit down with her privately and give her a short course in common everyday courtesy.

Anyone who takes the time and trouble to send a gift, is entitled to an acknowledgment.

Ripped Into Them

Dear Ann: How much does a woman owe her family any way? I've worked in an office for 15 years to make ends meet. One daughter graduated from college in June, the other is a high school senior. My husband retired himself this year at 55 (with no pension.) All he does is sit around the house and brag about how healthy he is. (Hasn't seen a doctor in 22 years.)

It all started when I got home from work yesterday at 5:30—hot, tired, arms full of groceries. The old man was sitting in the yard. He never even moved to open the door for me. The girls yelled to hurry with supper as they had dates.

Dishes were stacked in the sink, beds were unmade and wet towels were on the bathroom floor. (They'd been swimming.)

I ripped into the whole bunch and let them have it. They turned on me and said I was no lady to lose my temper—that I was a fishwife and they were ashamed of me. They all read you daily. How about some advice?—THE FOOL.

Dear Fool: Who raised these vegetables, Mother? Your

Buy and Serve The Very Best This Weekend

Picture a huge cornucopia spilling harvest time produce. Picture a family seated around a huge stuffed turkey and trimmings, giving thanks for the bounty of this rich land of ours.

Then put yourself into this picture by buying and serving the best dinner of the year on Sunday.

***

Pumpkins! Pumpkins! Pumpkins! For every one sold for pie-making, 100 are bought for Halloween. Locals this year are just the right size for cutting out scary faces. The larger pumpkins make better pies. Eight or nine cents is the average price per pound.

***

Harvest time is synonymous with corn "as high as an elephant's eye" and this year's local crop, late as it is, makes the song a reality. Some of the crop is in its first picking, the size of the ears is just right and so is the price at about a dozen for 59 to 69 cents.

***

To go with that turkey entrée, you can serve a heaping mound of local cauliflower, the finest seen around these parts in years or imported Brussel Sprouts at a variety of prices.

***

Two more Thanksgiving vegetables that are popular sellers for this weekend are imported sweet potatoes or yams, available in most stores.

***

What is a turkey or chicken without cranberry sauce? Both eastern (Early Blacks) or western varieties of this berry are on the market for the weekend in one-pound cartons at 33 to 35 cents each. Supply will last until after Christmas.

***

Sweet English roasting (not horse) chestnuts, are available for the holiday in most local stores. Imported from California, they are selling at about 59 cents a pound.

Speaker

Miss Nellie Smith, who has served with the Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church in Canada since 1925, will address a rally of Senior Auxiliaries in the afternoon of October 13 in St. Andrew's Church, and a rally of the Evening Auxiliaries in the evening.

Exceptionally fine quality is the description of the MacIntosh and imported Delicious apples on the market now. Prices are about two pounds for 39 to 49 cents depending on grade.

Specialties for your shopping cart include persimmons and pomegranates and California sugar cane that looks like bamboo and if sold usually is measured off in five-foot sections at about 10 cents a foot. The kids might enjoy a length or two to munch on.

***

Once a year, wholesalers bring in lucky pears from the south. Luckily, the prickles are burned off beforehand with a blowtorch. Personally, I've never tried one but if you have a yen for the exotic, you might try a few of these.

***

Grapes are always a popular holiday treat this time of year. Newest arrivals in this line are the Muscats and Lady Fingers.

***

A carload of main crop Florida grapefruit just arrived this week and it looks very good. This breakfast or dessert fruit with its juicy pink or white meat will be selling at about 10 to 12 cents each.

Intended to Stay Single But Changed Their Minds

BELLINGHAM (AP)—A Prince George, B.C., couple had to wait several hours here for a judge to sign a waiver of the three-day marriage licence waiting period.

They both intended to stay single all their lives, they said, but changed their minds and eloped to avoid a "mule riding" party.

The groom, Alfred B. Anderson, is 75. The bride, the former Miss Elizabeth Bagley, is 72.

Emotional Factors Mostly Involved

Delinquents Faulty Readers

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Montreal eye specialist Dr. J. V. V. Nicholls says juvenile crime often has a connection with difficulty in reading at school.

A youngster might become increasingly sensitive and develop an emotional block because he could not keep up in reading at school and because he was scolded for it at home, Dr. Nicholls told the Canadian Ophthalmological Society Wednesday.

"Eighty per cent of delinquents in New York have a reading disability. I'm not saying that because they can't read they go out and stab people, but there is no doubt that delinquency and poor reading are often linked together."

Between 20 and 40 per cent of otherwise normal children are retarded readers, said Dr. Nicholls. Ten times more boys are affected than girls, who are usually about six months ahead of boys in mental development when they leave school. He said most cases of slow reading by normally intelligent children are due to emotional factors, not poor eyesight.

Shampoo, Dodgers Gave Her 'Lift'

Who says you can't take it with you? Torn between an appointment at the hairdresser's and a desire to watch yesterday's decisive baseball game on television, Willaketh Taylor, 1220 Alturas Place, took a portable TV set to the hairdresser's. A Dodger fan for 16 years, Mrs. Taylor saw her team win, 9-3. Beauty operator Mrs. Marjorie Lord also enjoyed the game. —(Colonist photo.)

Council Briefs

Kiwanis Makes Peace

Goodwill has been re-established between city council and the Kiwanis Village Society.

Kiwanian Ald. Arthur Dowell criticized the society early this week for having fill dumped on 18 city-owned lots while offering only $4,500 for the property when council had set the price at $6,000—about half the estimated market value—and then asking the city to send a bulldozer to level the fill.

Yesterday Ald. Dowell said a society delegation had expressed regret, and council accepted the society's new offer of $6,000 for the property and voted to send a bulldozer to level the fill.

Mayor Percy Scurrell appointed Aldermen Austin Curran, M. H. Mooney and D. J. Proudfoot as a committee to consider and report to council on "the whole question of a capital region plan."

Council voted to seek support from the other Greater Victoria municipalities for its opposition to compulsory exemption from municipal taxation of all non-profit homes for the aged.

Aldermen have held that such exemption would place an additional tax burden on pensioners struggling to maintain their own homes.

Internal auditor Harold Norman received warm applause from council when Mayor Scurrell presented him with a senior certificate marking successful completion of four years' study of municipal administration.

McConnell Funeral Set Today

Funeral services for Thomas P. McConnell, 26, a native son of Victoria, and formerly well-known city business man, will be held at 1 p.m. today in Sands' funeral home.

Mr. McConnell, who was born in 1873, the son of Irish immigrants, died Wednesday in St. Joseph's Hospital.

He attended Kingston Street Elementary School and the old Central High School. After leaving school he worked for 17 years in the clothing business. In 1910 he switched to real estate.

ROTARIAN

Mr. McConnell was secretary of the Victoria Rotary Club for 20 years, retiring in 1955.

He was responsible for the introduction of professional baseball in the city. The team, the Victoria Bees, originated in 1913 and played in the long defunct Western Baseball League with teams from Seattle, Tacoma, Portland and Los Angeles.

Between the years 1898 and 1907 his hobby was the showing and breeding of English setters. He became an expert on the breed and his dogs took prizes in shows all over the world.

WIDOW SURVIVES

He is survived by his wife, Emily, at the residence, 403 Linden Avenue; two sons, Norman in Vancouver and Roy in Ontario; a daughter, Mrs. Hazel Hodson in Victoria; five grandchildren and six great-grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. B. F. Shepherd of Victoria; and two brothers, Wilson of Victoria and S. D. McConnell of Vancouver.

Pilots Rap Major Canadian Airports

'Unprepared for Big Crashes'

Emergency Equipment 'Satisfactory'

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal airport authorities have disputed a charge that the field lacks adequate firefighting equipment in event of a major airplane accident. Leigh Capreol, the transport department's airport manager here, said firefighting equipment is above minimum recommendations drawn up by the International Civil Aviation Organization.

Spokesmen for airlines operating out of Montreal said they consider emergency equipment here satisfactory.

ALPINE TUNNEL

A 7.3-mile tunnel under Mont Blanc, connecting France and Italy, is scheduled for completion in 1962.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Emergency equipment at Vancouver, Toronto and Montreal airports could not cope with a major aircraft crash, the Canadian Air Lines Pilots' Association said in a letter here Wednesday.

The letter, one of several submitted by F. G. E. Stevens to the city's airport board, said existing firefighting equipment cannot handle crashes of aircraft larger than twin-engine DC-3s or Convairs.

"It would be almost impossible to deal successfully with any major fire," the CALPA letter said.

The organization said it has asked Transport Minister Hees to take over control of firefighting measures at the three airports. It said firefighting and rescue should be the responsibility of the department, which already has control of flight operations.

Scientists to Try To Sleep in Nude In Freezing Arctic

OTTAWA (CP)—An international scientific team headed by a 43-year-old Canadian biologist will spend six weeks in the Arctic next spring making a special study of the ability of Eskimos to adapt themselves to frigid temperatures. The research will form part of an international study to determine the range of climate adjustment of which the human species, particularly whites, is capable.

Leader of the eight-man team will be Dr. J. S. Hart, head of the animal physiology section of the division of applied biology of the National Research Council. Composition of the rest of the team has not yet been completed but it will include biologists and physiologists from Norway and the United States.

The scientists will establish a research laboratory near Pangnirtung on the north coast of Cumberland Sound, Baffin Island.

Dr. Hart said in an interview that eight Eskimo seal hunters from the Cumberland Sound area have been hired for the tests. "The Eskimos who will be involved in the research will not be those who live at the Pangnirtung post and eat the white man's food," Dr. Hart said. "We are interested in Eskimos who live by hunting and fishing in their own historic environment."

The study will be similar to one in which Dr. Hart took part in remote central Australia two years ago.

The eight Eskimos and members of Dr. Hart's party will attempt to sleep in the nude in below-freezing temperatures sheltered by a wind break and flanked by two small fires. They will then attempt to sleep in the nude under the same weather conditions covered only by a light blanket.

In the Australian tests the aborigines apparently were able to allow their bodies to cool without discomfort as the temperature dropped. However, the whites attempted to increase their heat production by shivering, making sleep impossible.

Vancouver Sets Dog Crackdown
VANCOUVER (CP)—City council has decided to crack down on dog owners who do not licence their pets or keep them at the end of a leash.

An advertising campaign will warn the owners before the city puts radio-controlled trucks to work rounding up stray dogs.

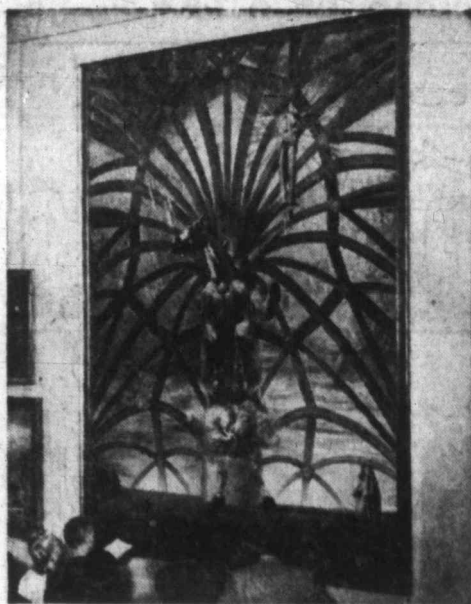

Owners of dogs running at large will be charged pound fees of $5 or $10 a day, depending on whether the animal is licensed.

A further $3 will be charged for a licence for male dogs and $11 if the dog is an unspayed female.

Dali at Gallery

One of the world's most controversial paintings, Santiago El Grande, by Spanish surrealist Salvador Dali, dominates one wall of the main gallery of the Beaverbrook Art Gallery at Fredericton, N.B. The painting, 10 feet wide by 13½ feet, portrays St. James being born upward into heaven on a horse. Dali says figure resting in the foreground is himself watching the resurrection.

Three-Mile Area Affected

Families Flee Poison Fumes As Gas Pipeline Explodes

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—A propane gas pipeline blew up on the outskirts of Austin yesterday and quickly spread an explosive and toxic blanket of fumes over a three-mile area. Police, firemen and air men from Bergstrom Air Force Base, some wearing gas masks, rushed through the streets, pounding on doors to awaken endangered families.

Four hundred families fled. Although the danger of an explosion was limited to a radius of three miles, the sickening fumes spread over the whole city. Hundreds of persons reported headaches and nausea. The danger of a widespread explosion lingered for nearly 3½ hours—until the bulk of the gas had been diluted by the atmosphere.

Engineers from the Phillips Pipeline Co., which owned the ruptured line, warned, however, that gas was still lying in low places and basements.

The nature of propane is such that it could lie in low places and basements for months unless it is found and blown out.

Propane can be transported and stored as a liquid but becomes a gas as soon as it touches air. It is both toxic and highly explosive when it gets out of control.

Families in the danger area were warned not to smoke and to turn out pilot lights in stoves and water heaters as soon as they could.

Stamp Misprints Issue Only 300
OTTAWA (CP)—The post office department estimated yesterday that 300 misprinted copies of Canada's five-cent seaway stamp have reached the public.

On this estimate, the first official one since the celebrated misprints originally were discovered in Winnipeg six weeks ago, may ride their final market value to stamp collectors.

Until now, with the "imperfects" turning up also in three Ontario centres, the number at large had been estimated variously at from 100 or so to about 2,000. Reports on their value ranged from $100 to more than $1,000 apiece.

Winnipeg dealer Kasimer Bieski has stuck to his original buying price of around $1,000. He said recently he had negotiated the purchase of 58 of the seaway misprints for a total of $50,000.

Philatelists in Ottawa say that with 300 such stamps sold by the post office, their value may be slightly less than $1,000 each. A used stamp, on a good envelope and bearing a clear cancellation mark, would be worth 15 to 25 per cent more than an unused one.

Since the imperfects were found in Winnipeg by a woman Aug. 20, similar stamps have turned up in Ottawa, Peterborough and Picton, Ont. The post office department now is convinced that few, if any, additional misprints will be found.

The misprints were part of a 40,000,000-stamp June 27 issue to mark the formal opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway by Queen Elizabeth and President Eisenhower.

It was the first such Canadian misprint since this country began issuing stamps in 1851. In a statement released here yesterday Postmaster-General William Hamilton said he hopes it is the last.

Carte Blanche Credit

Luxury Spree Cost Nothing

NEW YORK (AP)—A young man doesn't need money to travel, dress well and live in the best hotels.

A credit card will do it all. Police said, 19-year-old Joseph Robert Miraglia of Manhattan told them he used credit cards to spend about $10,000 in five weeks.

The credit cards took him to Las Vegas, Montreal, Miami and Havana. They bought plane tickets, nice clothing, plush hotel suites, champagne and other luxuries.

NO POCKET MONEY
Unfortunately, the little cards didn't supply pocket money. Miraglia was booked on a charge of fraud in writing a phony $150 cheque.

Miraglia said he made $55 a week as a clerk when he got interested in credit cards last August.

Police said he gave them this account of his activities: He had a small account in a Chase Manhattan Bank and he first got a credit card from that bank.

Then he saw in a store window an invitation to apply for a "carte blanche" credit card.

CHAMPAGNE
After receiving the card, he took an expensive suite in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, ordered champagne and had breakfast in bed.

Later he went to Montreal. He met a girl there and bought her a $600 fur stole. The credit card did it again.

He returned to New York and checked into the Plaza Hotel. The "carte blanche" paid for his suite but he had no spending money, so he cashed a cheque for $150.

It bounced, but Miraglia was gone by that time. A flying trip to Las Vegas followed. Then Miami. Then on to Havana where a hotel cashed a $600 cheque.

She stayed about a week, then returned to New York and went again to the Plaza Hotel, with $2 in his pocket. He registered for a $38-a-day suite.

When he tried to cash a $120 cheque there, he was sent to the hotel's credit manager, Miss Sheila Lee, who remembered him from the first cheque.

She pressed a button that brought house detectives.

Deserted by Husband

Power On Again, Mom Back in Shop

MIAMI (UPI) — A plucky, five-foot-four, 100-pound mother returned to her carport repair shop yesterday to hammer out an existence for herself and her three children.

The Florida Power and Light Co. turned off the current to her home for non-payment of bills last Saturday.

The mother, Mrs. Emily Rethman, said she hauled water in buckets and bottles and fixed her children sandwiches until last Tuesday.

Then, in desperation, she climbed the utility pole and hooked her house power line into a live circuit.

"I know it was a dangerous thing to do," she said, "but my children haven't had a bath or a hot meal since Saturday."

HUSBAND DESERTED

She said her husband left her and the children without support three months ago. He also left $1,500 in back bills.

To support her children she began doing body repair work on damaged cars in the carport adjoining her home.

"It was the only thing I could think of," she said.

COMPANY RELENTS

Mrs. Rethman said she earns between $30 and $40 a week in her makeshift repair shop.

The electric company relented and said it would leave the electricity on and would not prosecute to collect the money.

OLDEST BANK

Sweden's Riksbank, the central bank of Sweden, dates from 1668 and is the oldest existing bank in the world.

Curfew Lengthened In Jumpy Baghdad

BAGHDAD, Iraq (UPI) — Armored cars took up stations throughout Baghdad yesterday following the wounding of Premier Abdel Karim Kassem in an assassination attempt.

The government also lengthened the evening curfew three hours to help prevent any public flare-up resulting from Wednesday's shooting.

The public was warned that police would begin enforcing a ban on meetings of more than five persons which has existed here without observance for some time.

(Reports from both Cairo and Moscow said the assassination attempt touched off severe and widespread repercussions in Iraq, but for different reasons.)

(Newspapers in Cairo said the shooting led to large-scale arrests throughout Iraq and would be used as a pretext for "new massacres" of nationalists and anti-Communists.)

Cut Finger Strains Drunkometer

TORONTO (UPI) — A man who almost broke a drunkometer said he downed a bottle of liquor to take away the pain of a cut finger.

Joe Gallanger, 44, was jailed for drunk driving.

A breath test showed 3.9 parts of alcohol per 1,000 in his blood—equivalent to 27 ounces of liquor or 18 pints of beer.

JURISPRUDENCE

The scales and sword might well be the symbol of Grant's Stand Fast, as they are of jurisprudence.

The scales signify balance and fairness—qualities for which this balanced Scotch are noted. The sword is an emblem of protection—an assurance of distinctive flavour for which Grant's is so well known throughout the world. And, speaking of being well known, Grant's also is known by its distinctive tall triangular bottle.

HBC Parkade Preview

It's Out of This World...

Well, not really, but the difference that the Bay's NEW Parkade has made to the store is quite remarkable!

First of all, the New Parkade entrance on the Fashion Floor, 2nd, has let the soft Fall sunlight stream into the store to flood adjacent departments with the lovely shades of Autumn. Then many of the departments have been re-located in more convenient positions, have had new fixtures added for better selection, and have been redecorated for more eye appeal!

Visit the Bay's NEW second floor during your next shopping trip to town. Park in the New Parkade and walk directly from your car into our bright new world of fashion...

Bright new entrance on the second floor

Not ONE, but TWO

That's right, nowhere in Canada is there a parking area like the BAY'S NEW Parkade... where you can walk directly from your car into two main entrances of the store. Some stores have streets in between, some even have blocks between their small lots and their store... but NOT at the BAY... You park within a few feet of the building and can enter directly into the main or second floor! How's that for convenience!

Sportswear Dept., new in every way!

Carport Facilities Are Better Than Ever!

For the past few months our Carport facilities have been — to say the least — unsatisfactory, because of the new Parkade construction that was under way. NOW the Carport facilities are better than ever! Your parcels are delivered directly from the counter to your car — and fast, too! Ask for this handy service NOW and see how well a carport can operate!

Tanker, Bus Crash,
10 Die in Flames

NORTH BRUNSWICK, N.J. (UPI) — A bus filled with Trenton State College students collided in a fiery explosion with a tank truck early today and state police counted "definitely 10 and possibly 11 dead."

State troopers said bodies were burned beyond recognition.

B.C. Benefits

Debt
Nil

First tangible evidence of the benefits to come from Premier Bennett's claim to retirement of the provincial debt came yesterday when for the first time in the history of B.C. the quarterly release of funds for government spending showed no provision for the public debt.

For the first quarter of this year $8,900,000 was allowed under public debt for sinking funds and redemption of debt. In the second quarter some $2,500,000 was allowed for retirement of the debt.

EVERY CENT USED

Yesterday the provincial cabinet voted $99,675,630 for government spending up until Dec. 31, 1959, and every cent of it will be used for government operation. The headings "public debt" and "debt redemption from revenue surplus" are marked "nil."

Largest single expenditure is for capital expenditures out of income amounting to $26,151,000 and including $14,000,000 for Trans-Canada Highway work and $10,000,000 for roads, bridges and ferries.

COURTHOUSE

There is $800,000 shown for construction of public buildings, but the release does not show whether this is largely for Victoria courthouse construction.

The education department will get $19,049,175 and $12,414,500 of this is for grants towards education. Victoria College will get a general grant of $40,725 and its college of education $35,450.

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada now has almost seven times as many cases of paralytic polio as it had at this time last year.

The 1959 count stood at 1,201 cases on Oct. 3, compared with 173 on a comparable date a year ago. There have been 104 polio deaths so far this year, against 16 a year earlier.

Total cases include 43 in British Columbia with nine deaths.

QUESNEL (CP) — Four members of one family here have been stricken by polio. One is dead. Earl De Witt is awaiting an RCAF aircraft to take him to Vancouver where two of his children now are in hospital.

TV quiz winner Charles Van Doren yesterday was suspended from his $50,000-a-year position by the National Broadcasting Company shortly after he was asked to appear before a Senate house committee investigating charges that "21" and other TV quiz shows were rigged.

Defending Mother

Boy Freed
In Killing

A 17-year-old Victoria high-school boy who killed a man to protect his widowed mother was set free yesterday by an assize court jury.

Ronald Webber, who had stood trial on a charge of murdering fireman James Luske, 55, last May 23, impassively heard the not guilty verdict at 1.15 p.m., just half an hour after the jury went out.

After Mr. Justice Harry J. Sullivan told him, "You are now free to go," he left the courtroom with his mother, Mrs. Alice Olive Webber.

The Webbers hurried from the courthouse, refusing to comment on the outcome of the three-day trial.

They are now staying with friends in the city.

In his charge to the jury, Mr. Justice Sullivan said: "If I were trying this case alone without a jury, I would feel that the Crown has failed to prove an unlawful act on the part of the accused."

He said the jury had three choices: It could find Webber guilty of murder, guilty of manslaughter or not guilty.

Defence counsel Gerald Lauder, in summing up his case, said Webber was "well justified by all standards of English law" in shooting a man to defend his mother.

Luske, who lived with the Webbers at 1417 Camosun, was slain there by a single shot through the heart from a .22-calibre rifle as he broke into a bedroom where mother and son had taken refuge.

"Luske beat down the door of the bedroom by sheer physical force and Ronald was in a panic," said Mr. Lauder.

"He fired his rifle to protect her."

Defence counsel noted that Webber believed Luske to be in possession of a revolver.

"He had every reason to fear that Luske would kill his mother."

Mr. Lauder stressed that Luske was intoxicated and that alcohol is a "stimulant to violence in a man who is angry."

The lawyer asked the jury to accept three grounds of defence:

1. That Webber was defending himself.

2. That Webber was in peaceful occupation of his home, and under English law a man's home is his castle, and the youth had every right to defend his castle.

3. That by all standards of English law, Webber had the right to defend his mother.

Labor Districts
Go With Tory Tide

LONDON (CP) — Prime Minister Macmillan's Conservatives rode roughshod over the Labor Party in Thursday's general election, winning a resounding mandate for a third straight term in office.

Final returns are expected to show the Conservatives with almost double the majority of 54 they held in the House of Commons at last month's dissolution.

WELL ON WAY

When counting was suspended early this morning they were well on the way to this total, and the ridings reporting later in the day were expected—as is their tradition—to bolster the Conservative showing.

Counting was suspended until later in the morning just before 4 a.m. (9 p.m. PST), with 387 of the 630 seats accounted for. By that time the Conservatives had gained more than 20 seats from Labor.

FEAT UNEQUALLED

The Conservatives' third successive victory at the polls marked a feat unequalled by any British political party since the early years of the century.

Macmillan, the publisher-politician leading his party for the first time in an election, told jubilant followers at a victory celebration that he hoped the coming period would "bring happiness to our country and make some progress toward peace in the world."

SENSE SHOWN

The election had shown "the great common sense of the British people."

Politicians immediately predicted a shakeup in the top leadership of the Socialist party.

The assured Conservative success climaxed a remarkable political comeback for the government, whose popularity was at a low ebb 15 months ago.

Most of the credit was given to the prime minister himself, for his initiative in the cold war and his record of prosperity at home.

LABOR GLOOMY

Labor Party headquarters was wrapped in gloom at 57 minutes after midnight when word came from Leeds that Party Leader Hugh Gaitskill had conceded. Only a short time after he had won his own seat—though by a reduced majority—the socialist standard-bearer announced:

"In view of the results which have now come in, we feel bound to concede the result of the election. It is obvious that there will be a Conservative government."

PEOPLES WILL

"It is the will of the people, and we accept it."

Cheers greeted the prime minister as he turned up at Conservative headquarters shortly afterwards. With characteristic understatement Macmillan had this comment on the result: "It has gone off rather well."

More exuberant was party chairman Lord Hailsham, who shouted: "This is the moment of truth."

OUT OF DATE

Frank Byers, chairman of the Liberal party, which increased its popular vote, replaced Labor as the second party in more than a few contests and actually gained a seat from the Conservatives, said the outcome proved that "socialism is out of date."

"The young people are coming over to us," he added.

TORY PREDICTION

As the night's counting drew to a close the Conservatives were predicting a majority of more than 100 in the new House, and Labor officials were reluctantly inclined to agree with this prediction.

Virtually all of the seats that report on the day following the voting are from country districts and small towns—including Macmillan's own riding—that could be expected to bolster the Conservative total.

The record post-war majority was 188, won by Labor in the 1945 election.

When Labor realized that it was not jumping into the lead

Victory
Summit
Mandate

LONDON (UPI) — The smashing Conservative election victory gave Prime Minister Harold Macmillan a powerful mandate for an early summit meeting—the priority target of his foreign policy.

His aides predicted that the prime minister now would press ahead at once for an allied meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev this year, as a starter for broader East-West peace talks.

Macmillan also wants to meet with Presidents Eisenhower and other allied leaders soon, as a preliminary to the summit.

BULLETINS

EDMONTON—A blizzard raged Thursday night in all Alberta except the extreme southern areas and the Edmonton weather office forecast the storm will spread rapidly during the night into western Saskatchewan.

ISTANBUL, Turkey — A number of U.S. air force transports carrying American troops, have landed in southern Turkey following the attempt on the life of Abdul Karim Kassem, the Iraqi premier.

VANCOUVER—Dr. N. A. M. MacKenzie, president of the University of British Columbia, Thursday night called for the establishment of a board of commission to oversee government grants to higher education.

New Plan May Soften
High Cost of Drugs

By JIM TAYLOR

One-Third Prescriptions
Now Unfilled in B.C.

A pre-payment plan to combat the high cost of prescriptions may eventually be put into operation by British Columbia druggists.

Although the idea is only at the consideration point at the moment, officials of the council to the B.C. Pharmaceutical Association say the plan will certainly come under intensive study at their meeting Oct. 25-27 in Vancouver.

If patterned after a similar operation now being pioneered in Windsor, Ont., the scheme would allow members of unions and other groups to be insured against high prescription costs by paying a monthly premium, plus a 35-cent service charge for each prescription filled.

Rates in Ontario are: $4.45 a month or $33.45 a year for a couple with one child; $5.10 a month or $61.20 a year for a couple with two children, and a maximum of $5.75 a month or $69 a year for a family with three or more children.

Officials in Victoria and Vancouver have a marked difference of opinion when it comes to figures regarding the current prescription situation, but this much seems apparent:

Up to 30 per cent of prescriptions now being written are not being filled, simply because the people to whom they are given can't afford to pay for them. The association says prescriptions in B.C. average $3, but the number of prescriptions in the $5 to $15 bracket is increasing steadily.

The increase in prescription rates is blamed on a recent increase in cost of drugs, growing use of expensive, newly-developed drugs, and an increase from 50 cents to 75 cents in the fee pharmacists charge for dispensing prescriptions.

This dispensing fee, along with the "suggested price" list formula, is a bone of contention.

One Victoria official, who refused to be quoted, said that the dispensing fee and the suggested price list are not fixed, and are used only as a guide. Furthermore, he claimed, many pharmacists ignore them.

The suggested price list, which is not issued by the association, works like this:

Druggists, as a rule, double the price they have paid for a prescription, then add the dispensing fee to arrive at the retail price. This applies to drugs which cost the druggist $3.60 or less.

Under this formula, a prescription which costs the druggist $3.60 sells for $7.95. On items costing more than $3.60, the formula is two-thirds more than he paid (this being the manufacturer's list price) plus the 75-cent dispensing fee.

For example, on a prescription in which materials cost the druggist $5 he would charge $5 plus two-thirds of his investment ($3.34), plus the 75-cent dispensing fee, or a total of $9.09.

These figures, according to the Victoria source, can't be taken as completely accurate. But they provide a fair indication of why a pre-payment plan could be beneficial, and why it will receive such close scrutiny.

"The pre-payment plan," the Victoria official stated, "is of course well worth watching. But even in Ontario it's now going through a test period. It will be looked into carefully."

"I don't think anyone would question that right," Mr. Lauder said.

Shooting Curbed

NORTH COWICHAN — Council was deadlocked yesterday on a new bylaw to stop shooting in built-up areas, after hearing charges it was passing the bylaw "over the heads of Chemainus organizations."

The tie was broken by Reeve C. A. P. Murison who voted in favor of the new law. Councillors Tony Staples and Donald Morton voted in

LETTERS IGNORED

"Letters from all the Chemainus organizations have been ignored," charged Hamilton Bailey, representing the Chemainus Rod and Gun Club. He said hunters are being "persecuted."

Robert Benny, speaking for the Chemainus - Crofton Chamber of Commerce, said the group believes it is a "very poor bylaw" and asked: "Why not let us vote on it? Let us have the say, instead of just the council."

HELD OVER

The men claimed that because the bylaw goes into effect today, one day before the pheasant season opens, it should be held over until next year.

The bylaw closes off the fire protection areas at Chemainus, Crofton, Maple Bay and the built-up area of North Cowichan around Duncan.

To hunt in any of these closed areas, hunters must pay 50 cents for a municipal permit, and state exactly where they are going to hunt. Reeve Murison said it will close only part of the 20 square miles in the fire areas, leaving open the remaining 55 miles.

WHOLE SEASON

It was explained to the delegations that the permits will be good for all season and that regular provincial hunting licenses are still needed, as well as permission from the owner of the property on which hunters wish to shoot.

Mr. Bailey said there were more than 200 persons involved in the Chamber of Commerce and hunting clubs who were against the bylaw, and Coun. Staples said he had more than 50 calls from people "not representing organizations" who favored the bylaw.

LOT LESS

"That's a lot less than our groups," countered Mr. Bailey. Coun. Morton said if 50 phone calls are received they are representative of more than 200 persons.

Ladysmith Man Makes 'Turtle Club'

CHEMAINUS — William Rafter, of Ladysmith has been admitted to the "exclusive" Turtle Club.

He won the distinction when his safety hat "saved him from serious injury or death." A heavy bar fell from a crane above where he was working.

Bryce Page, manager of the MacMillan & Blodel sawmill here, where Rafter has been employed for 23 years, made the presentation.

Car Smash Injures One At Duncan

DUNCAN — More than $2,000 damages were done to two cars last night after a rear-end collision that sent one man to hospital.

Suffering shock and chest injuries is Alec Johnstone, of Duncan, caused when his late model car struck the back of another driven by Edward Aho of Crofton.

The accident occurred when Aho drove on to the highway from the Silver Bridge Inn, heading north.

Mrs. Aho suffered a slight head injury when the impact of the smash tore a pop bottle from the hand of her son, Roddy, 3, who was drinking from it in the back seat of the car.

This is one of two cars involved in a spinning crash on the Patricia Bay Highway yesterday injuring five persons.

Bad Spin Crash Injures Five

Five people were rushed to Royal Jubilee Hospital late yesterday afternoon following a spinning crash on the Patricia Bay Highway near the northern border of Central Saanich.

Two were brought in by Central Saanich ambulance; one by Saanich police; two by Sidney ambulance.

Victims included Edward T. Hicks, 947 Westing, who was described as in poor condition; Mrs. Annie Spriggs, of Vancouver, under observation and in fair condition; Mrs. Edith Jackson of Burnaby suffering shock and cuts; James W. Bond of James Island and his son Jimmy, who both were released from Royal Jubilee Hospital after treatment for cuts.

CITY-BOUND

Both cars apparently were heading towards the city at the time. Police said one was about to turn left into a driveway when the second struck it on the left rear fender.

The first car swerved across the road to the left side, skidding into the ditch. The second swung into a long curve, its

HEAVY TRAFFIC

Heavy traffic, home-bound from the city and southbound from the races, was directed past the scene by Central Saanich police and Sidney RCMP.

At 8:25 a.m. yesterday a woman pedestrian, Thelma Campbell of 2853 Prior, was injured when she collided with a car at Hillside and Prior. Driver of the car, westbound on Hillside, was Margaret Parkhouse, 4032 Shelbourne.

ACROSS HILLSIDE

Miss Campbell was running across Hillside at the time. City police took her to Royal Jubilee Hospital, where she was treated for pelvic injuries.

A naval seaman suffered cuts to the left side of his face and head at 10:10 a.m. yesterday in a collision between his car and a truck at Montreal and Superior.

George B. Walker, Patricia Bay, was taken to Naden Hospital for treatment.

'Outvoted' Cowichan To Oppose Faction

CHEMAINUS—North Cowichan council plans to increase its representation on the board of School District 67 (Ladysmith) following reports that council members are "continually outvoted and behind the eight ball."

Trustee Mrs. James Buckner told council yesterday "everything is cut and dried" before school board meetings, making the proceedings "undemocratic."

Council will approach the Department of Education to see if it can get approval to make it a nine-member board instead of the present seven. "If we got only one more we'd still be behind the eight-ball," said the other district trustee, B. G. Millard.

Mrs. Buckner said their request for action before the council was justified because Ladysmith, with a $1,000,000 assessment area, has three trustees. The Chemainus section of North Cowichan has two trustees representing a $5,000,000 assessment area. The two other trustees on the board represent Saltair and Cedar areas.

"I have the impression everything is cut and dried and we feel we don't even need to go to the meetings," said Mrs. Buckner. "Sure, we have an amicable fight on the surface, but not underneath."

Carrier Service Expected

COURTENAY—City council is looking forward to the time when Courtenay will have letter carrier service.

Information gathered from postal authorities indicate the city can expect to have postmen deliver letters to homes in about three years, council members say.

Only qualification not met by the city is the minimum of 2,500 calls a day and this is expected to be reached in about two years.

Chuck Quiter, six-year tackle with B.C. Lions, has been fined $1,000 and suspended for deciding to retire, because of a knee injury, without consulting the team's medical officials.

Quiter, 31, from Tyler, Texas, started in Canada with Edmonton, joined Lions in 1954 and since has become a Canadian citizen.

He had quarreled with coach Wayne Robinson in training camp when he decided to retire, was suspended Wednesday for missing a practice and was fined yesterday. # If Curfew Is Now Enforced—Blame a Parking Ticket

If Victoria's curfew bylaw is now enforced, a parking ticket will have something to do with it.

City council yesterday asked the police commission to direct the police chief to enforce the bylaw to the best of the department's ability.

The parking ticket may not have influenced council much in its decision, but it came up as a sort of last word in debate.

"Do we have to instruct the police to enforce all the by-laws?" asked Ald. M. H. Mooney.

"Well, the police chief has troubles, with the amount of staff he has," said Mayor

Percy Scurreh, police commission chairman. "Saturday, there wasn't a car on View for miles, and they send a car up there and I get a ticket!" said Ald. Mooney. "If they can do that, they're not so busy they can't enforce the laws on the books."

And council, laughing, approved the request.

Council also voted to ask the Greater Victoria Inter-municipal committee to consider the advisability of having a uniform curfew law for the whole area.

Ald. Elmer McEwen was first to call for enforcement of the bylaw, which prohibits children under 16 from being on the streets after 9.30 unless accompanied by a responsible adult or there through an "unavoidable cause."

"It seems to me a sort of a farce if we are not prepared to ask the police to do their best to see that youngsters go off the streets, and if they are caught again, to inform their parents, and if necessary prosecute," agreed Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow.

"The police should never, never say they can't enforce a law because it's going to cost money," said Ald. Mooney.

Ald. Proudfoot suggested a lower age-limit: many youngsters studied at the library in the evening, he said, or had other good reason to be out.

He also suggested the law was unworkable if only Victoria city had it.

Ald. Hugh Ramsay said the law naturally would be used with discretion.

He favored enforcing it, but said "the fines provided, $1 or $2, are ridiculously low and should be increased to have some effect on parents."

'Winter on the Island' Message to Prairies

Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau has embarked on an intensive $3,000 advertising campaign to bring prairie residents to Vancouver Island for winter vacations.

George I. Warren, Victoria tourist commissioner, returned from Alberta this week after laying groundwork for the winter vacation promotion.

He said newspaper advertising is being used in Calgary, Edmonton, Regina, Saskatoon and Winnipeg to get the program started.

Both national railways are supporting the scheme, he continued, by offering sharply reduced return fares allowing a 60-day stay-over on the coast.

Mr. Warren said many

Prairie residents have been taking winter vacations in the southern United States for years, but that a Vancouver Island vacation should be just as attractive as far as winter climate is concerned, and more attractive financially.

New Ferries Will Make 80 Jobs

When the provincially-owned ferries start operation in April or May between Sidney and Tsawwassen there will be 80 "lunch-bucket" jobs opened for seamen here.

There will be two eight-hour shifts on both the ferries and it is anticipated that crew members will get home every night.

Huge Canvass

Chest Agents Needed

Twenty or more canvassers are needed by Community Chest officials to fill their roster for the biggest house-to-house canvass in Greater Victoria history.

Mrs. Daryl Elford, in charge of the Chest residential canvass Oct. 14-17, yesterday reported a shortage of canvassers in certain areas, and sent out an urgent request for volunteers.

NOT COVERED

Three areas are still not covered in the canvassing plan. They are the Ten Mile Point district; the area bordered by Quadra, Clovelly and Tolmie Streets; and Cook Street between Tolmie and Hillside Avenue.

Volunteers are asked to phone Mrs. Elford at EV 3-5079, or the Community Chest office, EV 5-6708.

FOUR IN

Meanwhile, returns continue to pour in to Chest headquarters at a higher rate than in last year's campaign.

Total receipts to 4 p.m. yesterday were $76,155. Thanks to a partial return of $861.40 from the city of Victoria municipal workers, the third light on the Red Feather progress chart, indicating $75,000 plus, was lit yesterday afternoon.

Officials hope to break the $100,000 mark today.

Something 'Definitely' in Air On City's Mall-Parking Plan

Something "definitely" is going to be done about the city's downtown improvement and off-street parking plan, now in abeyance, Mayor Percy Scurreh said yesterday.

But he told Ald. Elmer

McEwen he wasn't prepared to say "at the moment" what he had in mind.

Ald. McEwen had remarked that the year was slipping by and nothing appeared to be happening.

Council yesterday received

48 form letters supporting the downtown improvement plan, out of 400 reported to have been sent out for signature by the Capital Region branch of the Community Planning Association of Canada.

"More than 10 per cent, that's very good," said Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow. "And none

Warren Mumon Offer Of Job to Fisher

Victoria publicity chief, George I. Warren had no comment yesterday on reports that his job has been offered to John Fisher, a former CBC travel commentator.

A Vancouver newspaper reported recently that Mr. Fisher, now executive director of the Canadian Tourist Association, has been offered $17,000 a year to come to Victoria, or some $1,700 a year more than the publicity bureau paid its entire staff in 1958.

Asked yesterday on his return to Victoria from a tourist promotion trip to Alberta whether he planned to retire from his job as head of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau to make way for Mr.

Fisher, Mr. Warren said "I have nothing to say at this time."

Last spring, when rumors of the Fisher offer were first heard, Mr. Warren said he had no intention of retiring.

Mr. Fisher recently confirmed that he has been offered the Victoria publicity post and is reported as saying "I have made no decision, but I always give consideration to anything that's interesting."

Victoria delegates to a Pen-tionist tourist convention at which Fisher confirmed the offer were Mayor Percy Scurreh, former chamber of commerce Conway Parrott, publicity bureau president Ian Ross and Mr. Warren.

Willing To Help College

City council jumped into the controversy over the site for Victoria's university yesterday, and after a sharp exchange of opinions, jumped back out again.

The aldermen voted in the end to ask Victoria College authorities how city council can help in establishment of a university, and also to ask which site will be used, and why.

Left in the air was a suggestion by Ald. Elmer McEwen that Greater Victoria voters be asked to approve, in the December elections, municipal contributions of one or two dollars per capita annually for four or five years to a university-building fund.

"EMPIRE-BUILDING" If the Greater Victoria municipalities gave leadership in raising funds this way, Ald. McEwen said, the "empire-building" at University of B.C. could be stopped and a real university started in Victoria.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow opposed "saddling the taxpayer" with university costs; the money should be raised in a campaign covering the whole of Vancouver Island and even other parts of the province, he maintained.

The question of site was raised by Ald. M. H. Mooney. The college authorities, he said, ought to give their reasons for not wanting to build the university on the Gordon Head site and ought to let council know what was in the report from a firm of Montreal consultants.

"I think we should back the new site," he said. "I don't think if they go ahead on the same site they'll get half the support they otherwise would."

TO HIS FEET

His remarks brought Ald. Edgelow back to his feet. The college had its professional advisers, he said; there was an "excellent nucleus of buildings on the present site," and starting afresh at Gordon Head would mean spending millions.

The present site might be suitable for the time being, Ald. Mooney replied, but he thought it was a "known fact" that it wasn't suitable for the future. He wanted council to inform the college authorities that it backed the Gordon Head site.

Ald. Edgelow moved an amendment, just to ask what city council could do to help.

Ald. Arthur Dowell moved an amendment to the amendment.

He proposed that "council go on record as taking no part in this discussion at the present time."

But his motion was ruled out of order by the mayor.

B.C. Agency May Control Pension Plans

A central government agency with control over pension plans operated by private firms is expected to be recommended by Victoria Soerds at the provincial Social Credit convention in Vancouver Oct. 30 and 31.

A spokesman said there have been cases of employees who served a firm for 20 years only to be dismissed just before becoming eligible for pension benefits.

Another Victoria resolution will press for a new province-wide plebiscite on daylight saving time.

No Work Till Spring On Nanaimo Hospital

NANAIMO — Hospital administrator Gordon Frith has announced that construction of Nanaimo's new regional hospital will not begin until spring.

Working drawings for the hospital are being inspected by officials of the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service in Victoria.

If it had been possible to start work on the $4,600,000 building during the winter it would have provided work for a number of men, Mr. Frith said.

DUNCAN — Duncan Falcons hold their first workout of the season tonight in preparation for the opening of the four-team Mid-Island Commercial Hockey League that starts Oct. 18.

Jack Thompson has been named coach. General manager is Al Jahelka. Fourteen members are expected at the practice tonight at Nanaimo.

Other teams in the league are Parksville, Lake Cowichan and Mesachie Lake. All games will be played Sunday mornings in the Nanaimo arena.

A schedule of 16 games is being drawn up.

NANAIMO — Members of Nanaimo's Old-Age Pensioners' Association will hold a street canvass today, looking for new members.

The group, which has more than 450 members, today begins a drive to bring membership up to 500.

LADYSMITH (CP) — Lady-smith is to get a new post office.

The word from postal authorities is that the old post office here is in such bad shape that it would be a waste of money to try to renovate it.

NANAIMO — Children attending school in District 68 have been asked to bring damaged toys to their schools before Oct. 31.

The toys will be collected by PTA groups and taken to Brannan Lake Industrial School where the boys will repair them so they may be distributed in Christmas cheer hampers to needy families.

DUNCAN — Funeral services for Marten Hansen, 46, a director of the Island Dairy Association, will be held tomorrow. He died Wednesday.

He had been a dairy farmer at Cowichan Station and Cobble Hill since he came here from Denmark 10 years ago.

Surviving are his widow, Anna, at home; two daughters, Karin of Victoria, and Mrs. Thomas Henstak of Cobble Hill, a brother and father in Denmark and one grandson.

Services will be held in the First funeral chapel starting at 11.30 a.m. Burial will be in Mountain View Cemetery.

NANAIMO — A three-day conference of provincial Lutheran pastors ended yesterday.

More than 30 pastors from throughout the province are attending the convention, including six from the Island—Rev. Carl Janzow, Victoria; Rev. Gordon Schultz, Port Alberni; Rev. V. Eichenlaub, Nanaimo; Rev. Henry Behl, Langford; Rev. George Steinkamp, Courtenay; and Rev. Gerald Scholz, Duncan.

NANAIMO — Joe Muir, 84, has been elected Chief Factor of Nanaimo Chapter of Native Sons of B.C. Mr. Muir was the first head of the chapter when it was formed 60 years ago.

Other officers are V. C. Harrison, vice factor; Hiram Gough, secretary; W. Grant, guide; E. A. Tiesue and G. D. Weeks, inside and outside sentinels.

CHEMANUS (CP)—A total of 3,953,000 board feet of lumber was taken by 12 foreign ships from Chemainus and Crofton ports last month, customs figures showed Thursday.

Of the total exports 2,041,000 board feet went to Britain and 1,326,000 to the United States.

DUNCAN — The Chamber of Commerce is attempting to get a "buffer" speed zone on the highway north and south of town to prevent the sudden change from 60 to 30 m.p.h. that faces drivers and to give them time to slow.

The highways department will be approached to see if it is possible to have the present signs spaced wider and other signs put between them.

NANAIMO — Jack Warwick is president of Nanaimo Figure Skating Club which begins its sessions at the Civic Arena Thursday.

Members of the club will use the arena every subsequent Monday and Thursday.

DUNCAN — Funeral services will be held tomorrow for Sidney Dawkin, 55, a resident of Vancouver Island for 52 years, who died Wednesday at Royal Jubilee Hospital in Victoria.

Born in England, he came to Nanaimo, where he lived for 43 years. Mr. Dawkin moved to Chemainus in 1950. He was a member of the International Woodworkers of America.

Surviving are two sons, Leonard of Holberg and Robert of Chemainus; a daughter, Elizabeth Alice of Nanaimo; five sisters and four brothers.

Services will be in First Funeral Chapel, starting at 2 p.m. Burial will be in the Chemainus cemetery.

NANAIMO — Felice Cavalotti Lodge will hold its annual Columbus banquet in the Plaza ballroom tonight, with ravioli as the main dish.

The women's committee responsible for the banquet includes Mrs. N. Bortignon, Mrs. E. Endrizzi, Mrs. V. Pavan, Mrs. T. Mangano, Mrs. D. Guizzo, Mrs. A. Venuti, Mrs. R. Rovere, Mrs. A. Sturam, Mrs. N. Lemcke, Mrs. A. Crando, Mrs. M. Blasutig, Mrs. R. Fulla and Mrs. N. Cosmacini.

A men's committee—P. Bortignon, F. Endrizzi, J. Mangano, E. Guizzo, T. Blasutig, V. Bortolotto, R. Cagna, J. Rosetto and D. Toma.

DUNCAN (CP) — Some 80 pre-school children have registered for dental care at the new clinic of the Central Vancouver Island Health Unit here.

The clinic is open to children aged three to six years, who will get a full year's complete dental care for a very nominal charge. Authorities hope some 200 children will enroll.

TORY MAJORITY DOUBLED

Debt Cost Nil

First tangible evidence of the benefits to come from Premier Bennett's claim to retirement of the provincial debt came yesterday when for the first time in the history of B.C. the quarterly release of funds for government spending showed no provision for the public debt.

For the first quarter of this year $8,900,000 was allowed under public debt for sinking funds and redemption of debt. In the second quarter some $2,500,000 was allowed for retirement of the debt.

EVERY CENT USED

Yesterday the provincial cabinet voted $99,675,630 for government spending until Dec. 31, 1959, and every cent of it will be used for government operation. The headings "public debt" and "debt redemption from revenue surplus" are marked "nil."

Largest single expenditure is for capital expenditures out of income amounting to $26,151,000 and including $14,000,000 for Trans-Canada Highway work and $10,000,000 for roads, bridges and ferries.

COURTHOUSE

There is $900,000 shown for construction of public buildings, but the release does not show whether this is largely for Victoria courthouse construction.

The education department will get $19,049,175 and $12,414,500 of this is for grants towards education. Victoria College will get a general grant of $40,725 and its college of education $35,450.

Children Dreaded Needles

QUESNEL, B.C. (CP)—"I'm just praying to God that it won't strike again," said Mrs. Earl Dewitt of Quesnel after her husband became the fifth member of her family to be stricken with polio.

A daughter, Aida, 13, died Sunday from the disease. A son, Bruce, 4, now is fully recovered. Mr. Dewitt and two of his five children, Florence, 11, and Roy, 9, now are in hospital.

The distraught mother tried to explain: "The children just dreaded getting needles so we kept putting the polio shots off."

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada now has almost seven times as many cases of paralytic polio as it had at this time last year.

Suspended

TV quiz winner Charles Van Doren yesterday was suspended from his $50,000-a-year position by the National Broadcasting Company shortly after he was asked to appear before a Senate house committee investigating charges that "21" and other TV quiz shows were rigged. (See story Page 7).

Defending Mother

Boy Freed In Killing

A 17-year-old Victoria high-school boy who killed a man to protect his widowed mother was set free yesterday by an assize court jury.

Ronald Webber, who had stood trial on a charge of murdering fireman James Luske, 55, last May 23, impassively heard the not guilty verdict at 1.15 p.m., just half an hour after the jury went out.

After Mr. Justice Harry J. Sullivan told him, "You are now free to go," he left the courtroom with his mother, Mrs. Alice Olive Webber.

The Webbers hurried from the courthouse, refusing to comment on the outcome of the three-day trial.

They are now staying with friends in the city. In his charge to the jury, Mr. Justice Sullivan said: "If I were trying this case alone without a jury, I would feel that the Crown has failed to prove an unlawful act on the part of the accused."

He said the jury had three choices: It could find Webber guilty of murder, guilty of manslaughter or not guilty. Defence counsel Gerald Lauder, in summing up his case, said Webber was "well justified by all standards of English law" in shooting a man to defend his mother.

Luske, who lived with the Webbers at 1417 Camosun, was slain there by a single shot through the heart from a .22-calibre rifle as he broke into a bedroom where mother and son had taken refuge.

"Luske beat down the door of the bedroom by sheer physical force and Ronald was in a panic," said Mr. Lauder.

"He fired his rifle to protect her."

Defence counsel noted that Webber believed Luske to be in possession of a revolver.

"He had every reason to fear that Luske would kill his mother."

Mr. Lauder stressed that Luske was intoxicated and that alcohol is a "stimulant to violence in a man who is angry."

The lawyer asked the jury to accept three grounds of defence:

1. That Webber was defending himself.

2. That Webber was in peaceful occupation of his home, and under English law a man's home is his castle, and the youth had every right to defend his castle.

3. That by all standards of English law, Webber had the right to defend his mother.

"I don't think anyone would question that right," Mr. Lauder said.

Labor Doomed By Disaster?

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Macmillan's Conservatives rode roughshod over the Labor party in Thursday's general election, winning a resounding mandate for a third straight term in office.

Final returns are expected to show the Conservatives with almost double the majority of 34 they held in the House of Commons at last month's dissolution.

WELL ON WAY

When counting was suspended early this morning they were well on the way to this total, and the ridings reporting later in the day were expected—as is their tradition—to bolster the Conservative showing.

Counting was suspended until later in the morning just before 4 a.m. (9 p.m. PST), with 387 of the 630 seats accounted for. By that time the Conservatives had gained more than 20 seats from Labor.

FEAT UNEQUALLED

The Conservatives' third successive victory at the polls marked a feat unequalled by any British political party since the early years of the century.

Macmillan, the publisher-politician leading his party for the first time in an election, told jubilant followers at a victory celebration that he hoped the coming period would "bring happiness to our country and make some progress toward peace in the world."

SENSE SHOWN

The election had shown "the great common sense of the British people." Politicians immediately predicted a shakeup in the top leadership of the Socialist party.

The assured Conservative success climaxed a remarkable political comeback for the government, whose popularity was at a low ebb 15 months ago. Most of the credit was given to the prime minister himself, for his initiative in the cold war and his record of prosperity at home.

LABOR GLOOMY

Labor party headquarters was wrapped in gloom at 57 minutes after midnight when word came from Leeds that Party Leader Hugh Gaitskell had conceded. Only a short time after he had won his own seat—though by a reduced majority—the socialist standard-bearer announced:

"In view of the results which have now come in, we feel bound to concede the result of the election. It is obvious that there will be a Conservative government."

PEOPLE'S WILL

"It is the will of the people, and we accept it."

Cheers greeted the prime minister as he turned up at Conservative headquarters shortly afterwards. With characteristic understatement Macmillan had this comment on the result: "It has gone off rather well."

More exuberant was party chairman Lord Hailsham, who shouted: "This is the moment of truth."

OUT OF DATE

Frank Byers, chairman of the Liberal party, which increased its popular vote, replaced Labor as the second party in more than a few contests and actually gained a seat from the Conservatives, said the outcome proved that "socialism is out of date."

TORY PREDICTION

As the night's counting drew to a close the Conservatives were predicting a majority of more than 100 in the new House, and Labor officials were reluctantly inclined to agree with this prediction. Virtually all of the seats that report on the day following the voting are from country districts and small towns—including Macmillan's own riding—that could be expected to bolster the Conservative total.

The record post-war majority was 186, won by Labor in the 1945 election.

When Labor realized that it was not jumping into the lead

LONDON—The landslide proportions of the Conservative victory spelled disaster for the Labor party beyond its worst fears. It has suffered defeat in the 1951, 1955 and 1959 general elections and each time by a heavier margin.

The authoritative British Broadcasting Corporation said the defeat might mean Labor's extinction.

PRIME MINISTER MACMILLAN

Victory Summit Mandate

LONDON (UPI)—The smashing Conservative election victory gave Prime Minister Harold Macmillan a powerful mandate for an early summit meeting—the priority target of his foreign policy.

His aides predicted that the prime minister now would press ahead at once for an allied meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev this year, as a starter for broader East-West peace talks. Macmillan also wants to meet with President Eisenhower and other allied leaders soon, as a preliminary to the summit.

BULLETINS

EDMONTON—A blizzard raged Thursday night in all Alberta except the extreme southern areas and the Edmonton weather office forecast the storm will spread rapidly during the night into western Saskatchewan.

ISTANBUL, Turkey—A number of U.S. air force transports carrying American troops have landed in southern Turkey following the attempt on the life of Abdul Karim Kassem, the Iraqi premier.

VANCOUVER—Dr. N. A. M. MacKenzie, president of the University of British Columbia, Thursday night called for the establishment of a board of commission to oversee government grants to higher education.

Holiday Toll Predicted 35

OTTAWA (CP)—Thirty-five traffic fatalities for the Thanksgiving weekend were predicted Thursday by the Canadian Highway Safety Council starting at 6 p.m. Friday and ending at midnight Monday.

New Plan May Soften High Cost of Drugs

By JIM TAYLOR

A pre-payment plan to combat the high cost of prescriptions may eventually be put into operation by British Columbia druggists.

Although the idea is only at the consideration point at the moment, officials of the council to the B.C. Pharmaceutical Association say the plan will certainly come under intensive study at their meeting Oct. 25-27 in Vancouver.

would allow members of unions and other groups to be insured against high prescription costs by paying a monthly premium, plus a 35-cent service charge for each prescription filled.

Rates in Ontario are: $4.45 a month or $53.45 a year for a couple with one child; $5.10 a month or $61.20 a year for a couple with two children, and a maximum of $3.75 a month or $45 a year for a family with three or more children.

Officials in Victoria and Vancouver have a marked difference of opinion when it comes to figures regarding the current prescription situation, but this much seems apparent:

Up to 30 per cent of prescriptions now being written are not being filled, simply because the people to whom they are given can't afford to pay for them. The association says prescriptions in B.C. average $3, but the number of prescriptions in the $3 to $15 bracket is increasing steadily.

The increase in prescription rates is blamed on a recent increase in cost of drugs, growing use of expensive, newly-developed drugs, and an increase from 50 cents to 75 cents in the fee pharmacists charge for dispensing prescriptions.

This dispensing fee, along with the "suggested price" list formula, is a bone of contention.

One Victoria official, who refused to be quoted, said that the dispensing fee and the suggested price list are not fixed, and are used only as a guide. Furthermore, he claimed, many pharmacists ignore them.

The suggested price list, which is not issued by the association, works like this:

Druggists, as a rule, double the price they have paid for a prescription, then add the dispensing fee to arrive at the retail price. This applies to drugs which cost the druggist $3.60 or less.

Under this formula, a prescription which costs the druggist $3.60 sells for $7.95. On items costing more than $3.60, the formula is two-thirds more than he paid (this being the manufacturer's list price) plus the 75-cent dispensing fee.

For example, on a prescription in which materials cost the druggist $5 he would charge $5 plus two-thirds of his investment ($3.34), plus the 75-cent dispensing fee, or a total of $9.09.

These figures, according to the Victoria source, can't be taken as completely accurate. But they provide a fair indication of why a pre-payment plan could be beneficial, and why it will receive such close scrutiny.

"The pre-payment plan," the Victoria official stated, "is of course well worth watching. But even in Ontario it's now going through a test period. It will be looked into carefully."
